Jaycee-Sponsored Annual Junior Amateur Golf Tournament At Princess Anne Club June 21

First Four Winners Here to Be Eligible For State Title Play

The second annual Virginia Beach Junior Amateur Golf Tournament will be played June 21 at the Princess Anne Country Club. The tournament, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is open to any boys who have not reached their 19th birthday by July 15, 1949.

Last year's event was a popular one, with 15 entries among the youngsters. Joe Carson, the winner of the 1948 tourney, will not be in the playing this year, but it is expected that the three runners-up will tee off for the tournament. Joe Fivesh, promising amateur, was second in the '48 play, with Craig Slingluff and Frank Smith, Jr., following in third and fourth places.

Winner of the 1949 event will receive a cup as Junior Amateur Champion of Virginia Beach. Those boys placing second, third, and fourth will receive medals.

The first four will be eligible for the State Junior Amateur tournament, to be held at the Oakwood Country Club, Lynchburg, June 27 and 28. The seven low men at the State meet will go on to the National competition, to be held late in the summer.

Rules of the Professional Golfers' Association will be in force, as well as any special rules deemed necessary by the club professional at the time of the tournament.

The first round of the 36-hole medal play will get underway Tuesday morning, June 21, at 8:30. Starting times and pairings will be posted on the Princess Anne Country Club bulletin board Monday morning. Monday will also be open to practice rounds for the contestants, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the professional at the club, and must be turned in to him by Sunday, June 19. They may also be obtained from members of the tournament committee, of which Dawson Taylor is chairman.

Committee Heads Named For P. A. County Fair

Officials of Town And County Pledge Cooperation

Terming the proposed Princess Anne County Fair "a move that will bring the Beach and County together in harmony," Lawrence Lockwood this week pledged the cooperation of the official family of Virginia Beach in the Woman's Club project. The fair, which the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County will sponsor, will be held September 22-24 at Casino Park, Virginia Beach.

Mr. Lockwood said that while the fair will be a relatively new undertaking for the county, he believed that it would be a good thing for both the town and county. "I believe that the people of the county and the town should and will, support the fair, both before and during the event," he said.

The Woman's Club has named committee chairman for the fair, according to Mrs. James McNamee, who is chairman of the ways and means committee of the club, as follows:

Mrs. C. B. Spence and Mrs. James Darden, tickets; Mrs. Aubrey N. Holmes, program; Mrs. Kermit S. Land, prizes and premiums; Mrs. Grayson Whitehurst, exhibits; Mrs. Harry Holland, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M. H. Marshall and Mrs. J. H. Proud.

New Beach Canal Handling Heavy Boat Traffic

Waterway Provides Easier Access For Larger Boats

The new Beach Canal, providing a greatly-improved route for yachtsmen desiring to visit Virginia Beach, is now open for traffic. The canal, which is three-quarters of a mile long, connects Broad Bay with Lynnhaven Inlet and is expected to give added impetus to the rapidly growing sport fishing facilities being developed at the resort.

The new waterway, together with a new high-level highway bridge, cost approximately $12,000. Funds for the dredging were provided by the Beach Channel Association, Inc., which is composed of Virginia Beach sportsmen. The cut is 30 feet wide and five feet deep. The fixed highway bridge allows an overhead clearance of twelve and one-half feet at mean high water. The dredging was done by Ames & Webb, Inc., Norfolk contractors.

According to local residents, there has been heavy traffic through the canal during the past week. The boats have been mostly pleasure craft from Virginia Beach, but oystermen also use the cut in shifting seed oysters between Broad Bay and Lynnhaven Inlet.

Completion of the canal reduces the distance from Lynnhaven Inlet to Virginia Beach by approximately three-quarters of a mile. It is no longer necessary to pass through the narrow draw of the Long Creek Bridge, nor must the boatman pick his way through the shifting sandbars of the creek. Running time between the two points has been reduced by about forty minutes, or, in the words of an ardent local waterman, "It means exactly eighty more minutes that I can stay out and fish."

The canal project completes a plan which was formed several years ago by the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club. The first step was the dredging of the Narrows channel between Linkhorn and Broad Bays. This was completed last summer at a cost of approximately $2,500 and is 30 feet wide and 4 feet deep. The average depth of water in Linkhorn Bay is about 10 feet and in Broad Bay 5 feet.

At the present time the Beach water route can accommodate most any boat which can enter Lynnhaven Inlet, provided overhead clearance required does not exceed 12½ feet. Many of the boats which dock at the Beach and regularly use the route exceed 40 feet in length and have

Sixth District Junior Women to Meet in Norfolk June 16

Installation of officers and the presentation of the award to the outstanding District Junior Woman will highlight the Annual Workshop of the Junior Woman's Club of the Sixth District. The club, of which the Princess Anne County Junior Woman's Club is one, will meet at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club Thursday, June 16, at 10:30 a.m.

The Workshop is open to officers, chairmen and all interested club members, according to Mrs. Mary Moore, publicity chairman for the local group. She said that reservations may be obtained by writing Mrs. W. P. Wilson, 82 Post Street, Hilton Village, or phoning Mrs. Norfolk 21276. June 10 is the deadline for reservations, Mrs. Moore said.

HANDWORK—It took a strong back and weak mind to accomplish the destruction of the concrete and wood benches recently installed on the boardwalk by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Vandals over the Memorial Day week-end were able to smash to bits seven of the benches, and partially destroyed six others, of the approximately 25 installed to date by the Jaycees. Shown examining the wreckage as it is being hauled away are Jaycee President Louis Guy and Ex-President Owen Moore.

Vandals Destroy Half of Benches On Boardwalk

Jaycees Offering Liberal Reward for Capture of Culprits

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is offering a liberal reward for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who willfully destroyed 13 of the 25 benches installed on the boardwalk by the organization.

The depredations occurred over the long Memorial Day week-end and evidently took place late at night. Of the 13 benches, seven were destroyed beyond repair while the other six were tossed overboard and broken, but are repairable.

The benches, recently installed as a community project by the Jaycees, cost between $15 and $20 each. Although individual merchants about Virginia Beach sponsored benches, the Jaycee organization is responsible for the upkeep of the benches according to their agreement with the town when erecting them.

According to Jaycee members, there is no evidence that the benches were destroyed by a group of high school week-end party.

Police declare that no one has been able to identify the culprits. Reeves E. Johnson, chief of police, said that he is anxious to get to the offenders. A special patrol on the boardwalk during the latter part of the Memorial Day holiday, however, failed to uncover evidence of the guilty parties. "When and if they are caught," Chief Johnson said, "we will see that they remember it."

Jaycee officials are meeting this week with town officials in an effort to obtain permission to install the benches in a suitable manner to the boardwalk to avoid future difficulties with vandals.

New Theatre To Open June 24

A new theatre, featuring musical reviews, is scheduled to open on the Beach June 24, at the site of the old Roland Theatre, 17th Street, according to the producer and operator, Ned Crane. It will be called the Continental Theatre, Mr. Crane said, and will feature musical entertainment of a high calibre.

Two shows nightly are planned with matinees three times weekly.

The McGinnis Industrial Center, Inc., has boosted its holdings in the Kempsville District of Princess Anne County to approximately 250 acres with the acquisition recently of the 169-acre Backus tract which adjoins property previously purchased by the corporation.

Beach Lions Club Preparing for State Convention

Cavalier Hotel to Be Headquarters for Meeting June 16-18

The State Lions Club convention, which will be held at Virginia Beach June 16-18, is slated to hear prominent Virginia and North Carolina speakers during the session. Principal speaker is Edward H. McMahan, of Brevard, N. C., director of Lions International, according to W. W. Johnson, general chairman.

Ellis Loveless, of Norfolk, former International Director, and Dr. E. G. Gill, of Roanoke, past International President, also appear on the agenda.

The convention is expected to draw approximately 1,200 Lions and their families from all over the state. A full calendar of entertainment has been planned, with a golf tournament at the Cavalier Country Club, boating, and a ball at the Cavalier Beach Club.

A cabinet dinner will be held at the Cavalier Hotel, convention headquarters, and a Deputy District Governor's Ball will be held that night at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club.

Formal business sessions will open Friday morning when Claude B. Bell, president of the Virginia Beach Lions Club, calls the convention to order. Lawrence Lockwood, town manager, will make an address of welcome and the District Governors of the four districts in the State will be introduced to the delegates.

International officers will be introduced by Mr. Loveless, following which committee appointments will be made and the minutes of the 1948 convention will be read.

Following a president's and secretary's luncheon the afternoon will be spent in hearing committee reports and district meetings.

Friday night the annual banquet will be held in the Panorama Room of the Beach and Cabana Club, followed by the District Governor's Ball. Mr. McMahan will deliver his address during the banquet period.

Saturday morning's session will be highlighted by the election of new officers for the coming year.

Livestock Survey Cards Being Sent To County Farmers

Farmers of Princess Anne County are being mailed livestock survey cards during the first week of June, according to H. W. Ozlin, county agent. The cards are being left by mail carriers, and all farmers who receive one are urged to fill it out and put it back in their boxes immediately.

The purpose of these cards is to secure information which the Department of Agriculture uses to estimate the spring pig crop, milk production, number of lambs saved, and chickens and turkeys raised. These survey cards are being left in mail boxes throughout the county and if the farmers will cooperate, it will give the department some valuable information, Mr. Ozlin said. This is the 25th year that such information has been collected.

Mr. Ozlin urges each farmer in Princess Anne County who receives one of these cards to fill it out promptly. He assures each one that the reports are kept confidential, and that only county and state totals will be published. The accuracy of the livestock reports depends on a large number of the cards being returned.

General Assembly Almost Certain to Face Tax Problem

Opinion on legislation creating a general sales tax in the State for school purposes is divided in this area, according to a brief canvassing of merchants and professional men on Virginia Beach.

The merchants contacted were unanimously against the proposal, which is looming so large in the gubernatorial campaign at the present time. On the other hand, professional men seemed to be largely for the sales tax, terming it "the fairest form of taxation."

Some of the "against" replies to the News' question, "What do you think about the adoption of a general sales tax in Virginia?" are listed below.

Wiley Harrell, pharmacist: "I am against it. There should be some other means of raising money. Buyer resistance is developing strong enough without any added barriers."

Mrs. Woodberry Seamans, Five and Ten Cent Store: "I just don't know how we could handle any more tax bookkeeping. We have only certain things with a Federal tax and it is a terrific amount of book work, so I don't think we could possibly do all of the book work for a State sales tax, too. It wouldn't particularly hurt business, but it would be a burden on the merchants."

Leo Billey, merchant: "I am definitely against a sales tax. From a merchant's point of view it would be a terrible mistake to adopt one in the State. These people come here from out of state, many of them from states having a sales tax, and it is a novelty to them to get something 'tax free.' They like the feeling of not having to pay the sales tax. Many people from North Carolina do most of their buying here during the summer months of things other than staples for just that reason. The out-of-state tourist that we cater to has no obligation to support the state of Virginia."

Horace Simmons, photographer: "I do not favor a general sales tax. A luxury-type tax is all right, but a general sales tax is unfair to the man who does not make much of a salary. That penny he puts out for each 10-cent purchase amounts to a lot, considering the (Continued on Page Eight)"

Invitation Softball Tournament Here June 29 to July 3

Big news this week in softball is the announcement by E. E. Bayne that the Virginia Beach Invitation Tournament will be held here June 29 through July 3. Mr. Bayne said that it is anticipated that 16 teams will take part in the tournament, with eleven from Norfolk, two from Smith Mountain, one from Virginia Beach, and one from the Court House.

It will be the first time that a local invitation tournament at Virginia Beach has been held, and it is expected that interest will run high.

The winner will receive a trophy to be awarded by the Tournament Committee, and will probably go on to Richmond to the State Softball Tournament, which follows on July 6.

Games scheduled, tentatively, are: Wednesday, three games beginning at 8:30 p.m.; Thursday, three games; Friday, three games; Saturday, five games; and the playoff on Sunday afternoon.

VANDALISM IS STUPIDITY

Last week-end's vandalism of the benches which have recently been placed along the boardwalk for the comfort and convenience of the summer visitors by the Junior Chamber of Commerce was a discouraging sign of the times that we had hoped would miss Virginia Beach.

Unfortunately, it seems that vandalism, especially among the young, is on the upswing throughout the nation. This example right here at home only points up this real menace.

During the week-end, it has been reported, not only were more than half the benches installed by the Jaycees thrown off the boardwalk, but seven were broken into bits in as meaningless a bit of mischief as can be imagined. Moreover, it was reported that at the south end of the Beach, steps were taken away from tourist cabins and splintered; screen doors were torn from doors; and mischief in general prevailed.

It is hard to imagine what quirk of mentality demands the destruction of these things, which singly are not valuable in terms of large sums of money, but collectively amount to a sizeable amount. It is a pity that these energies which it must take to demolish concrete and steel (as the supports of the benches were) and splinter new boards of durable wood (no easy task) could not be channeled into constructive uses. It is a pity that these people who destroy so sleepily are not only mature in body and strength, but mature in mentality as well.

IS THE SALES TAX NECESSARY?

Come to the fore recently as a major possibility in the State of Virginia is the adoption in the next General Assembly of a general sales tax.

In a state where the county finances have been pared to the vanishing point; in a state where the school system is tottering under the severe strains of inadequate plant and teaching staffs, at the same time it is facing increased enrollments; in a state where the welfare program is woefully inadequate, something will have to be done to raise more money. To date, the sales tax looks to be the most logical solution offered by the gubernatorial candidates.

Virginia is the wealthiest of the southern states, with the exception of Florida, but reportedly only one in six file any tax returns in the state, and beyond that, only half of these pay any tax. A sales tax, according to estimates, would provide some $20,000,000 a year in income, but would be particularly burdensome to none.

To a state that finds itself suddenly in need of large sums of money for school expansion and rebuilding, for raising teaching salaries, for health and welfare, and that sounds like good income. To counties that have reached the bonding limit or that hesitate to raise taxes on real estate, that sounds like the answer. It would mean progress in a progressing world; it would mean an end of robbing Peter to pay Paul.

There would, however, have to be many provisions ironed out if it were to be a satisfactory answer all around. Some provision would have to be made so that the merchant would be spared another mountain of tax bookkeeping, and it would be necessary to see to it that it would entail no additional expense to the merchant's already heavy burden. It would be necessary to draw a careful line on the untaxed necessities of life, and the things that would have to be taxed.

It would be necessary to iron out these problems, and many, many others. But it seems at this point to be a logical and fair solution.

Financial Writer Warns Against Loan Sharks; Offers Expert Advice on Sensible Borrowing and Planning

Countless Americans have fallen victim to unscrupulous loan sharks who exploit their ignorance, despite the fact that over ten thousand banks grant small loans up to a few thousand dollars on relatively easy terms.

Valuable information on the sensible way of taking out a loan is given by Sylvia Porter, noted financial writer, in the June issue of Good Housekeeping magazine.

"The proper loan may mean the difference between financial peace of mind and worry, between financial comfort and strain," says the author. "Yet many families . . . in their anxiety to get a loan quickly . . . walk into the nearest lending agency and accept any offer—not bothering to count the costs involved."

Asserting that many Americans pay far too much for loans because they don't know how or where to borrow, the article cites the very existence of loan sharks as "dramatic proof of our ignorance."

The author contrasts the average interest rate on small bank loans—from 8% to 12% for a $100 loan to be repaid in 12 months—to as much as $24 to $120 for the same loan on the same terms made by a pawnbroker or a "re-medial-loan company." Licensed small-loan companies charge from $12 to $19.50 for a $100 loan to be repaid within 12 months.

Miss Porter also discusses the advisability of getting loans from insurance companies, credit unions and local savings-and-loan associations. Her article advises readers: "Don't take a bigger loan than you need nor one too small to meet your requirements; consider such assets as saving account pass-books, life insurance policies, automobiles and jewelry as security behind loans; if practical, consolidate small debts into one obligation to a single creditor."

"As for home-building and home-financing loans," says the author, "your shopping tour should include the builder of the house and a local office of the Government's Federal Housing Administration as well as the mortgage department of a neighborhood bank, savings-and-loan association, or insurance company."

Figuring that the average family has at least one financial emergency every two years, the article

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JUNE 1, 1928

Road Use Tax Bringing U.S. Record Revenue

Highway users are paying special federal excise taxes at the highest rate in history this year, according to data from the Internal Revenue Department.

For the first nine months of the present fiscal year, which ends June 30, special federal taxes on automotive products were nearly $200 million, or at an annual rate of $1.25 billion.

Only two other types of federal excise taxes—those on alcoholic beverages and tobacco—exceed the total being paid by motorists.

The motorist excises include federal taxes on gasoline, oil, tires, new motor vehicles, and automotive repair parts and accessories. In 1948, for example, the average new car had in its sales price nearly $75 in federal excises, and the average truck nearly $116.

Unlike general sales taxes, federal excises are levied only on selected items. The present automotive excises were levied in 1932 as "temporary revenue measures" which Congress admitted were discriminatory and promised to repeal quickly. Instead, the taxes have stayed in force ever since, and rates were doubled in 1941.

Since these taxes invade a field the states use to finance road work, tax experts have urged their repeal.

Mother of Mrs. Basil Manly Dies Tuesday in Cleveland, Ohio

Mrs. Louise Gayton Williams, 79, widow of G. W. Williams, died in a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital on Tuesday, May 31. She was born in Southampton, England.

Mrs. Williams is survived by three sons, Harry L. Williams, G. William Williams and Lawrence V. Williams; one daughter, Mrs. June Williams Manly, of Virginia Beach; two grandsons, Basil Manly, III, of Virginia Beach, and Larry Williams; two sisters, Mrs. Martha G. Brashear and Mrs. Mary G. Peglar, of Columbus, Ohio; and two brothers, Walter Gayton and George Gayton, of Chicago, Ill.

Funeral services are being held today from the Melbourne Funeral Home, Cleveland, Ohio.

reminds readers that: "There's nothing wrong in borrowing money now and then, and frequently there's plenty right about it. But when you go into debt," the author concludes, "know how to go in. Then, know how to get out of it."

Looking Back finds that the June 1, 1928 headlines of interest in the Virginia Beach Weekly were mostly interested in the opening of the tourist season at Virginia Beach. "Another evidence that summer is at hand," one article read, "is the reopening of the Virginia Beach information bureau which accomplished such a splendid work for the beach last season." Mrs. R. T. Lipscomb maintained the bureau for the Norfolk-Portsmouth Advertising Board and the Hotel Association of Virginia Beach.

The dedication of the boardwalk was pronounced a success, especially the floral gateway erected by the Junior League. Miss Veronica Marsteller, surrounded by State and local officials, did the dedication up properly by smashing a bottle of champagne on the rail of the walkway.

The road program in the county was practically completed, according to L. O. Hines, county road engineer. A total of $10,853.97 was spent in 30 days.

Mrs. R. C. Everett's School held final exercises and an opera, "Florida," was presented. Anna Marr, Milnor Ashburn, Goodenow Tyler, Marguerite Lockwood, J. Peter Holland, 3rd, and Talbot Dickson were among the cast representing elves and fairies.

A charter was applied for by the Linkhorn Bay Boat Club. Officers were W. F. Dodson, Arthur Masury, and A. H. Callow.

In the county, 120 4-H Club members were planning their schedule of summer events.

It is a pity that the news photographs of the day cannot be reproduced, especially the fashion pictures which the Weekly ran regularly. In the June 1 issue was an "unfurred coat featuring clever fabric manipulation." The beauty shown in the picture had a waist line dropped to the middle of the hips, and a hem line that struck about the cap of her knee. Narrow shoulders and a wrap-around effect of the coat, finished off with a cloche hat pulled down over forehead and ears, was a picture of "the well dressed" woman. "Can fancy conjure a model of more convincing chic?" queried the caption.

WE BUY TIMBER AND LOGS

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

New York—If people are not buying our goods, it's only because our salesmanship and our merchandising is poor. That, in effect, is what researcher Arno Johnson last week told a worried session of the American Marketing Association.

The figures cited by Mr. Johnson to show the ability—as distinct from the willingness—of people to buy are truly astounding. They should be encouraging to every storekeeper, every retailer. Total disposable personal income, after taxes, is actually up seven per cent over the first quarter of 1948, Johnson says. "Real" purchasing power, corrected for all factors, is today 83 per cent higher than in 1940 and six per cent higher than last year. Individuals own $200 billion in liquid savings, three times the savings of 1940. And whereas only four per cent of the families in 1941 had yearly incomes of $3,000 after taxes, now 21 per cent of the people are in this plush market bracket.

It's true that price reductions often cause people to postpone buying in the hope of more price cuts. But they don't put off their buying forever. People want goods, they have the money to buy them. Getting them to do so is the challenge every salesman faces.

RUBBER COMPETITION—Ever since the war's end producer of crude rubber have been concerned about the competition of American-made rubber. Their concern has deepened as this material has steadily strengthened its position on the basis of cost, availability and proved usability. Now the British, Dutch and other interests are so alarmed by this young competitor that they are applying diplomatic pressure to persuade Uncle Sam to restrict its production. This campaign, says John L. Collier, president of the B. F. Goodrich Company, is not only a threat to our national security but is a "cartel road which leads to totalitarianism." Mr. Collier said that recent events in China should remind us of the fragile rubber lifeline that ties the United States to the Communist-threatened Far Eastern plantations. Besides, the BFG president points out, raising crude rubber prices will not automatically cure the dollar shortage among producing nations. If the price per pound of crude—already 38 per cent higher than in 1939—were to go still higher it would likely mean a drop in the volume of American purchases of crude, in the face of the availability of man-made rubber.

THINGS TO COME—The television field again leads in new developments this week. First there's a chairside receiver, arranged so you can select your programs without leaving your comfortable seat. The receiver projects its image on a home movie screen. . . . Inspired by the success of taverns with television, a New York bank is installing a set in its lobby to entertain clients waiting to get their checks cashed. . . . And the New Haven railroad is experimenting with television as a means of checking passing trains. . . . Dated tumblers are not really new, but the idea behind the latest models is quite novel. The maker is dishing his "house" tumblers to prove they last three to five times longer than the conventional kind. . . . Comes now children's lollipops with soft, flexible shafts of Bakelite for safety's sake in case Junior falls while eating one. They're just as sticky, however, as the old kind. . . . So help us, here's the last new record player we'll report: This one plays records of all sizes and all speeds. . . . Sometime this July a new plastic carpet sweeper that makes 3500 "whisks" per minute will be placed on the market.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS—As industry continues to expand its plant facilities in towns and communities throughout the U. S., it is realizing more and more the necessity and value of establishing sound community relations.

One large firm, for example, is achieving this by a new river and stream betterment project as part of a $3,500,000 water purification program started by the company in 1933. Schenley Distillers, Inc., which operates the Joseph A. Finch and Company distillery at Cedarhurst, Md., on the Patuxent river, has for years been active in stream-pollution prevention. Since acquiring the Cedarhurst distillery in 1940 the company has utilized research and improved methods and equipment to better its wastes recovery program. As a result, the spent grain residue used in distilling is converted into protein-rich dried cattle feed instead of being injected into the river.

Three distinct public benefits have resulted: sportsmen enjoy better fishing, farmers are provided with super-nourishing distillers' feeds which produce better livestock, poultry and dairy products, and communities obtain clean water for recreation and consumption.

The latest Cedarhurst treatment plant brings Schenley's total of such plants to 16 constructed in the last 16 years.

BITS O' BUSINESS—The "wait for lower prices" attitude is holding down new building activity. New starts are 13 per cent lower than at this period last year, but still twice as high as in 1939. So there should be plenty of work for the carpenter and the mason.

Reserve Officers Asked to Report Change of Address

Personnel of the Army Reserve Offices in Virginia are losing a lot of time tracing Reserve officers who fail to notify their unit instructors of change of address, Colonel George R. Sclthers, Senior Army Instructor for the Organized Reserve Corps, announced today.

Colonel Sclthers urged Reserve officers to notify their unit instructors immediately, when they move from one address to another. Intend to travel or reside in a foreign country, go on active duty with any of the armed services, either as officers or enlisted men, or assume or vacate any public or civil office or position under the federal government.

While the Reserve office has tracked down every Virginia Reserve officer who has moved without notifying his unit instructor, the office has no way of locating out of State Reserve officers who move to Virginia, unless they notify their former Reserve offices of the change. These officers are jeopardizing their entire Reserve careers through oversight or neglect, Colonel Sclthers said.

Change of address should be reported on Department of Army Form 603, which may be obtained from any unit instructor.

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months. The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.
2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.
3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.
4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.
5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 35 per cent are left with only slight after effects.

If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

Interest in the 1949 corn-growing contest between North Carolina and Virginia is growing by leaps and bounds. Farmers from both States are enrolling, anxious to increase their own corn yields and to help their respective States come out on top. The exhibit shown above is being displayed in various localities. In the center appears the trophy which will be presented to the winning State by the Corn Committee of North Carolina and Virginia. It is donated by The National Fertilizer Association.

Charlie Fisk Band At Cavalier Beach Club for Two Weeks

Charlie Fisk and his rising young band of 13 musicians move into the bandstand at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club tonight for a two-week engagement.

For the young conductor who started his career at the age of 13, this is another in the series of steps to the top of the musical ladder, which he has been climbing steadily since 1941. Already cited by critics as one of the most promising leaders and musicians on the popular music scene today, he has been favorably compared with the best in the business.

His own ability on the trumpet has won the plaudits of his fellow-musicians, with no less an authority than Harry James praising his technique. Critics have hailed him for his easy style

Va. Travel Council Delegation Making Extensive Tour

Virginia made a bid for increased travel from the states to her west this week, when a delegation from the Virginia Travel Council began a tour of cities throughout West Virginia, Ohio, Michigan and a part of Pennsylvania and with the brass horn and listeners and dancers have given their approval by turning out again and again to hear his trumpet work.

The Fisk orchestra follows Chris Cross into the Beach Club. Opening after Fisk will be Russ Carlyle on June 17. Dick Jurgens, Henry Busse, Glen Gray, George Olsen, Orrin Tucker, Jack Pina and Henry King will round out the Cavalier's summer parade of bands.

Kentucky to invite vacationers there to choose Virginia. The delegation started in three sections from Lexington, Harrisonburg and Winchester, on June 1, and is scheduled to return on June 7. Approximately three tons of Virginia publications are being used on the tour.

Through the cooperation of the American Automobile Association, movies featuring Virginia as a vacationland are being shown at various points throughout the tour, including Detroit and Cleveland where groups of industrial travel directors from the larger industries will be in the audiences. During the tour members of the party will call on approximately fifty recreation directors of industries employing many thousands of highly paid, skilled workers, according to Commander Raymond B. Bottom, of Newport News, president of the council. The three delegations are headed by Gordon Brown, of Mt. Solon, R. C. Harnsberger, of Luray, and G. C. Walker, of Marion.

Meringue for the Pie

Meringue has long been a mystery, even to experienced cooks and pie-makers. It may be soft and fluffy as a cloud when the pie goes in the oven, yet quite different when it reaches the dinner table. Familiar troubles are: shrinkage, "weeping," wateriness underneath, stickiness which makes cutting difficult, toughness, and "beading"—small moist droplets over the surface.

Recent meringue-making studies, reported by the New York State Experiment Station, may help cooks avoid these difficulties. Secrets of fine quality meringue revealed in these tests are: whipping egg whites and sugar to just the right stiffness; placing meringue on a hot filling; baking at 425 F. for 4 to 4½ minutes.

For tender, moist meringue, able to hold its high fluffiness, the right amount of whipping is important. In the tests best results came from this method. Have the whites at room temperature. Add a pinch of salt for each white. Beat until the foam is relatively fine and forms rounded peaks when the beater is lifted out. Then add sugar gradually—2 tablespoons for each white—and continue beating until the meringue is stiff but not dry.

Meringues baked on hot filling in the tests cooked more evenly and were less likely to "weep" than those baked on a cold pie. Baking at 425 F. for 4 to 4½ minutes proved more of a protection against leakage than baking at lower heat a longer time, as many recipes recommend.

Beating, the tests showed, results from too long cooking, causing over-coagulation of the whites.

A temperature of 425 F. proved best for tenderness and preventing stickiness and shrinkage. In 4 to 4½ minutes this temperature also gave a golden brown glint over the top of the meringue.

4-H Clubs Observe Rural Life Sunday

Since 1932, by an ordinance of the Grange, rural organizations and churches have cooperated in the observance of Rural Life Sunday—the fifth Sunday following Easter—which fell on May 22.

Six Princess Anne clubs observed that date by participating in the regular church service. Two clubs observed May 29. Under direction of club leaders, assisted by Jack Brothers, assistant county agent, the Princess Anne Junior Club worshipped at Beech Grove Methodist Church; Croods Junior and Senior Clubs at Charity Methodist Church; Oceana Senior Club at London Bridge Baptist Church; Kempville Senior Club at Kempville Episcopal Church, and Bayside Club at Hagedorn Methodist Church.

The two clubs observing May 29 were Oceana Junior Club, at Oceana Methodist Church, and Kempville Junior Club at Kempville Baptist Church.

The pastors of these churches delivered appropriate sermons on the value and accomplishments of rural organizations, especially the 4-H Clubs.

Demonstrations on Color in the Homes Helpful

The demonstrations on "Color in the Home" given in May club meetings, have proved enlightening to many homemakers. They learned that color has a language all its own. Gloomy colors can make us depressed just as our spirits drop on a dark day. Bright colors can cheer us up and give a room an atmosphere of gaiety. Color is the most effective and the least expensive of all ways of decorating and well repays the investment.

The demonstrators pointed out that there were no rigid rules for color; but when planning a color scheme for the home the observance of the following guide posts will prove helpful.

1. Begin with the color you like.
2. Let the color of some furnishings, such as a rug, drapery fabric, a piece of furniture, a picture, a tray of prized decorative object, be the inspiration for the color scheme, and repeat each color in the background and furnishings of the room.
3. Let one color dominate the entire decoration of the house.
4. Let the color scheme be warm or cool, according to the amount of sun the room gets and the size of the room.
5. Use colors in shades that are loved with the kind of furniture you like: greyed and deeper pastels with 18th century; greyed and sayer tones with Early American; bright clear colors with modern.
6. Secure a balance of color by planning the largest areas in:

neutral or subdued colors and the small areas in bright colors.

7. Avoid strong contrast.

total size of his salary."

On the "pro" side of the ledger, P. F. Murray, retired hotelman, said: "If we have to raise money for schools, this general sales tax looks like the fairest means. The bad part is that often 'temporary' measures are never taken off the books, and become a part of the permanent tax burden."

John Tucker, insurance salesman: "The general sales tax is the fairest of all types, but the merchants must cooperate to make it a success. They found this out in North Carolina. It took a number of years down there to iron out all of the problems of administering the sales tax, but it really has paid off. I can not remember the exact figures, but when the sales tax went into effect in North Carolina in the 30's the state was nearly bankrupt from overbuilding highways. They built them and then they didn't have the money to keep them up. The sales tax pulled the state finances up so that now they have a surplus."

R. L. Simpson, attorney: "I think that any surpluses in the State treasury should be made available to the counties for schools, if it can be made so legally. However, if money is still needed for schools to bring them up to a standard we can be proud of, then I believe that the sales tax would be the most equitable. It would cover the greatest number of people. I am against any further real estate taxes, so it looks like the only other thing would be a sales tax if it was found that more money was needed than is available."

Impetigo May Be Dangerous In Newborn Infants

Impetigo, a highly contagious skin disease which occurs most frequently in hot, humid weather, may be dangerous if contacted by a newborn infant.

Answering important questions on the disease in the June issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, Dr. Josephine H. Kenyon, also discusses symptoms, medications and precautions.

In persons other than infants, says the author, impetigo "is only annoying and disagreeable but it is not serious unless added infections cause complications."

Dr. Kenyon reports that infection usually appears on the face, around the nostrils or mouth or on the cheeks and that it is usually transmitted by direct contact with hands, toys, clothing or anything that has touched the infected skin.

"The article cites the many medications which have been prescribed for impetigo but warns that 'it should never be treated without medical advice.'"

Give Them Simple Cultivation And You "Can't Kill the Iris"

DDT Dip Effective Tick Protection for Family Pooch

A DDT dip for the family dog will give effective protection against ticks in the early summer when the insects are at the height of their activity, says J. O. Rowell, entomologist at V. P. I.

It is easier to cover a dog more thoroughly with DDT by dipping rather than dusting with powder, although a 10 per cent DDT powder may be used, he explains. For a weekly dip, buy 50 per cent wettable powder and use in water according to directions on the package.

If it is not practical to prepare a dip for Fido and her pups, a satisfactory water-suspension spray can be made by mixing 4 ounces of 50 per cent wettable powder in one gallon of water. This spray can be applied with a small compressed air sprayer. Saturate the dog, and repeat the treatment about every two or three weeks during the "tick" season.

If properly applied, DDT is harmless to dogs, and gives them comfort and the family safety against ticks, Mr. Rowell says. It is not, however, effective after the ticks have already become attached to the dog. Use it before the dog has a chance to come in contact with the insects.

Mr. Rowell warns that on the family cat, DDT should never be used. Cats are much less tolerant to this poison than dogs, and when they lick their fur they may eat enough DDT to cause illness and sometimes death.

A total of 35,000 men were involved in the Navy's largest peacetime maneuvers.

An expert on iris reports that 418 out of 421 varieties grew lustily after three years, during which they were cultivated only twice yearly and had to contend with weeds three feet high.

The man who believes that "you can't kill the iris" as long as they receive simple care is Dr. Franklin Cook, past president of the American Iris Society. Dr. Cook has written an extremely informative article on iris for the June issue of House Beautiful magazine.

"Iris are hardy, floriferous, undemanding, require no winter protection," says the author. "Even in the most northern sections of the country (after their first year), they can easily stand 20 degrees below zero for long periods of time without danger of injury. Modern iris will grow almost anywhere and are sure to bloom for you every year."

Explaining that "form has been refined by nearly a century of careful breeding," Dr. Cook adds that "weather resistance has been increased, size of flowers has been quadrupled, strength of stem has increased, and colors have been purified."

According to the article, there are six simple but definite cultural requirements for iris. They are: "Full sun, or nearly so, except in portions of Southern California and the Deep South where they need partial shade; fertile soil (which may be sandy or clayey, slightly acid, alkaline, or neutral); perfect water drainage; air drainage; clean cultivation; and regular replanting."

Dr. Cook reports that most modern iris are tested very thoroughly before being put on the market, but warns that "almost all general nursery catalogs list a bunch of old-timers that are mighty poor substitutes for the modern iris."

The article lists hundreds of recommended varieties classified by color and by price (over and under $1). Dr. Cook compiled the list from carefully-recorded data on 400-odd varieties, from consultation with American Iris Society Performance Ratings, and from a check of 1949 prices in six catalogs.

Ant Control Facts By Entomologist

Ants of all species can be easily and effectively controlled with one application of 5 user cent Chlordane dust applied directly on the mounds of their nests, says J. O. Rowell, entomologist at VPI.

If it is not possible to locate the nests, Mr. Rowell suggests using Chlordane spray on lawns, flower gardens, and tree trunks where the ants are a nuisance. He recommends 4 pounds of 40 per cent chlordane wettable powder in 100 gallons of water as a spray.

Ants can be kept out of the house by spraying 5 per cent chlordane in highly refined oil along runways. The spray will not stain rugs, woodwork, or furniture.

Highway Marking Explained

Ever wonder what it means when a highway is designated "U. S. Route 80 & 80?"

If you are like most highway users, you probably think a U. S. route number means the highway is built and maintained by the Federal government. But you are wrong.

Uncle Sam does not have anything to do with it, the State Highway Department explains.

U. S. highways are administered and financed like any other State primary road, only their numbers are assigned by the American Association of State Highway Officials. The idea is to insure a uniform numbering system for highways that cross State lines, explained the department.

The system makes it easy for amateur map-readers to motor, say, from Maine to Florida. All you have to do is get on U. S. Route 1 and stay on it.

ENJOY YOUR GARDEN MORE BY PUTTING IN PAVING

One of the best ways to meet today's demand for more outdoor living space is the "down to earth" way—by paving. For those who like to live in while they look at their gardens, artful paving is just as important as horticulture.

According to the June issue of House Beautiful magazine, which devotes four pages to the art of paving, there are at least eight real advantages to be gained by hard-surfacing part of a garden.

Paving, say the editors: "Reduces lawn mowing and maintenance; provides easy wheeling for garden furniture and children's toys; dries fast, so reduces tracking floors; makes the usable part of your garden look bigger; lets you use your garden early in the spring while lawns are too soft to be walked on; banishes the danger of slipping, or staining your shoes; avoids worn spots in the lawn; cleans easily after snows or downpours that erode nearby bare ground."

Pointing out that paving materials are limited only by the ingenuity of the designer, the magazine recommends wood, asphalt, tanbark, pebble mosaic and concrete in many original surface treatments. In addition to the old stand-bys of flagstone, brick, slate and gravel.

More than a dozen photographs are used to illustrate the technique of using redwood blocks, redwood planking, "washed concrete," and slate to pace terraces and paths.

From June 1947 to April 1948 Naval and Marine Reserve aviators flew 487,359 pilot hours.

Kitchens on Wheels For Al Fresco Fans Now Available

The big, stone barbecue oven has the same fault as money—you just can't take it with you. More versatile than those miniature fortresses are the portable barbecues which can be rolled out of wind and rain, dismantled to fit into a car and serve as chuck wagon at your favorite picnic grounds.

Portable barbecues are available in a wide assortment of sizes and capacities, from the simplest grill with hand-revolving spit to electrically-driven rotisseries which can handle 75 pounds of meat. Fifteen different models are illustrated and discussed in the June issue of House Beautiful magazine.

Of the models shown as a window-shopping tour for readers, one has "two large ovens, an over-size grilling surface, and kabobs for skewered meat or fowl so that everything can be cooked at once in large quantities and kept hot in warming ovens." Another, with vertical charcoal beds, features a rapid cooking technique. "There's practically no waiting," say the editors. "Both sides of meat are seared at once, and heat can be controlled by sliding the twin fireboxes nearer or farther away. It folds like a suitcase."

The magazine gives trade names of the fifteen barbecues and, in some cases, stores which are known to carry them.

Guernsey Cow Sets Record

A registered Guernsey cow, Bayville Queen Polly, owned by C. F. Burroughs, of Lynnhaven, has completed an official Advanced Registry record of 11,524 pounds of milk and 561 pounds of butterfat in the 365 day division starting her record as a junior 3-year-old, according to an announcement by the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Polly is the daughter of the outstanding Guernsey sire, Bayville Country King, that has fifteen daughters in the Performance Register of the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

This record was supervised by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and reported to the cattle club for approval and publication.

With her hand on the light switch the little woman interrupted her chatter to inquire: "Is everything shut up for the night dear?" "Yes, sweetheart. Everything else."

Crab Meat Maryland Is Fit for A Feast; Just One of Many Delightful Recipes Favored by Residents of Tidewater

A crab is a horrid sight on the shirt of your swimming suit. But a whole mess of them, "civilized" by an expert "kitchen police," can delight the eye of a family of gourmets.

There are three crab meat dinner recipes in the June issue of Good Housekeeping which the magazine's tasting staff has rated fit for a feast. Two of the recipes are for Deviled Crab Meat and Southern Crab Cakes. And here's one for Crab Meat Maryland:

1/4 cup butter or margarine
3 tablesp. flour
2 cups milk
2 tablesp. minced onion
1/2 teasp. celery salt
1/2 teasp. grated orange rind
1 tablesp. minced parsley
1 tablesp. minced green pepper
1 pimiento, minced

Deaf tabasco
2 tablesp. sherry
1 egg, beaten
1 teasp. salt
Speck pepper
3 cups cooked fresh or canned crab meat
1 tablesp. melted butter or margarine

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). Melt 1/4 cup butter in double boiler; stir in flour, milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring until thickened. Add onion, next 6 ingredients. Cast of "The Common Glory" Gathers to Begin Rehearsals

The 1949 cast of "The Common Glory" will begin to gather this week-end at the Matoska Lake Amphitheatre, Williamsburg, for the first of four weeks of intensive rehearsals making ready for the opening night July 1.

The cast will be headed by Walter Brooke, star of stage and screen, who has just been signed for the second season with the drama in the leading role of Thomas Jefferson.

Mr. Brooke, who is now appearing with Melvyn Douglas in the Broadway production of "Two Blind Mice," will leave the play early in June. Also deserting Broadway for Williamsburg and "The Common Glory" are Maxine Lee, recently named as the drama's premiere danseuse and lately featured dancer in "One Touch of Venus," and Myra Kinch, dance director and choreographer for the drama, who has won fame as a dancer on stage and screen on both the East and West Coasts.

Also arriving from New York will be John Baird, producer and director, who will be the 1949 director for the drama which has been revised and re-staged for the new season, with new scenes and more elaborate lighting effects.

Mr. Brooke has played opposite such actresses as Tallulah Bankhead, Durrig Bergman, Vivian Leigh, Blanche Yurka, Florence Reed, Carmel Myers and others of equal note, and was selected last season to play the role of Jefferson, following Broadway auditions in which several dozen young actors participated.

His portrayal of the role of Jefferson won him the plaudits of the press from all over the country. The cast is composed of 150 actors, dancers, singers and technicians, representing nine states. One of the special features of the 1949 presentation is the enlarged and glorified ballet and the additional music.

The drama will be presented nightly except Mondays from July 1 until Labor Day.

THESE ARE ACCIDENTS Before THEY HAPPEN

Turn through your newspaper and read the different ways people have met accidental death during the past 24 hours.

Nothing has happened to you. Your name is not there. But it doesn't mean it won't be there tomorrow.

Last year, accidents injured 10,300,000 persons and took 98,000 lives in the United States. YET, ON THE DAY BEFORE THOSE ACCIDENTS HAPPENED, THOSE PEOPLE WERE JUST AS SURE OF THEIR CONTINUED WELL-BEING AS YOU ARE THIS MINUTE.

Every time you walk down the stairs . . . every time you cross the street to the corner grocery . . . every time you smoke in bed . . . every time you replace a burned-out fuse, you're actually taking your life in your hands!

The ways in which accidents can lash out of nothingness to disfigure you . . . to make you a hopeless invalid . . . to snuff out your life, are too numerous for the mind to visualize. Accidents don't just happen — They are caused, usually by thoughtlessness or carelessness, or both. There's only one way to fight accidents. Think . . . before you act.

BE CAREFUL—THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN!

Carefulness is a watchword on the Norfolk and Western. Last year, for the fourth time, the Norfolk and Western was awarded the Harriman Memorial Gold Medal for the best safety record among Class I railroads throughout the nation — the highest safety honor that can be bestowed upon any railroad.

On the railroad, it's a day-by-day, hour-by-hour, minute-by-minute job — involving relentless vigilance, a continuous educational program, and the expenditure of millions of dollars for modern, protective tools and equipment.

Record Number of Cases Put on Police Court Docket During Past Week-end; Most Traffic Cases

Special Patrol on Boardwalk in Effort To Stop Vandalism

Last week-end's merry-makers set an all time high for number of traffic violations at Virginia Beach judging from a study of the police docket placed before Judge E. V. Gresham at Police Court on Tuesday, June 7. There were 67 cases tallied, of which 42 were traffic cases. The week-end of Memorial Day, usually presenting an unusually large number of violations, both traffic and disorderly, brought into court 54 cases, of which 40 were traffic infractions.

Running second to traffic cases were charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, the docket revealed, although the number was not nearly so large.

A comparison of the docket for June 1, 1948, revealed that less than 30 arrests were docketed, and for July 6 last year, usually a high point in the year's merry-making, only 46 arrests were made in all, which included all violations.

The high of last year was the July 13 Police Court docket of 65, but of this number 21 were held for failure to pay town licenses, an item not appearing at all in this year's record.

The large number of arrests last week-end reflects the Police Department's determination to tighten up on troublesome offenders—both the traffic and disorderly variety. According to Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson, the department has been instructed to bring in unreasonable cases of violations, especially traffic, in an effort to avoid serious accidents.

"We want to maintain our record of two years with no traffic fatalities, and we won't be able to do it if flagrant violations of the traffic ordinances are allowed," the Chief said. He said that the department has tried to be as lenient as possible with the vacationers, but that it cannot put up with dangerous and hazardous practices.

"As for the disorderliness and noise makers, they are not bad, but they are really annoying. I don't believe that they are the regular vacationers, but youngsters ranging from 18 to 23 years of age who are down for a week-end of 'fun,'" Mr. Johnson said.

One of the heaviest losers by vandalism in the town is the Virginia Electric and Power Company. Each week sees many of their street lights destroyed, both on the boardwalk and other places about the town.

The department has placed a special patrol on the boardwalk in an effort to nip vandalism in the bud. Only recently serious damage was done to 13 concrete and wooden benches placed on the boardwalk by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and seven of them were destroyed completely.

In the meantime, word has come that Police Justice Gresham is determined to do his part in the campaign to lessen the number of traffic and disorderly charges by pasting on a stiff fine for violations. Town Manager Lockwood, in revealing Judge Gresham's stricter policy, said that if vandals are apprehended, they will remember it. "We are planning to be plenty tough with them," Mr. Lockwood said, "and we'll give them everything the law allows."

ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS AT NEW YORK MEETING

Albin R. Mathies and James Kontopoulos, members of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club, will leave tomorrow for New York City where they will attend the meeting of the Rotary International, June 12 to June 16.

Large Number of Employees Attend Jaycee Course

Session Today and Two Next Week Will End Course

The Jaycee-sponsored Tourist Information Course, which started Monday of this week, has attracted satisfactory numbers of employees of Beach business and hotel interests, according to officials of the organization.

Wednesday's session, attended by some 50 interested employees, was given over to the general topic "What the Area Offers the Tourist." Speakers included Mrs. Washington Reed, guide service section of the Norfolk Southern Bus Corporation, who spoke on "Historical Interests"; E. Y. Robinson, Cavalier Yacht and Country Club, on "Natural Interests"; Roland Halstead, Game Warden, Princess Anne County, on "Legal Aspects of Hunting and Fishing"; W. F. Crockett, president, Virginia State Theatre Association, and operator of the Beach and Bayne Theatres, on "Theatres, Club and Other Recreational Activities"; and Bill Diehl, sports editor Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch, on "Sports Events in the Area."

According to Mr. Diehl's summary of sports events available to the tourist, the Tidewater area has as varied and full a sports program, year around, to offer the visitor as any other section of the country. "The only sport not yet developed in Tidewater," Mr. Diehl said, "is snail racing, and it wouldn't surprise me if some bright person got a couple of swift snails and set up in business of racing them."

Mr. Crockett was equally enthusiastic about the amusement and recreational facilities available, saying that no other resort had such fine beach clubs as does Virginia Beach.

Program for today's session, which begins at 10 a.m. at the Community House, is on the general topic of "How to Direct Tourists."

Speakers and their subjects are: "Train and Bus Travel," John Addenbrook, Superintendent of Transportation, Norfolk Southern Bus Corporation; "Boat Travel," William Cox, Traffic Representative, Baltimore Steam Packet Co.; "Air Travel," W. M. Barnes, Jr., Manager, Capital Airlines; "Highway Travel," J. T. Timmons, Manager, Tidewater Automobile Association; "Hotels and Eating Places," Albin Mathies, Executive Secretary, Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce; "Retail Merchandise and Service," R. B. Taylor, Fuel, Feed and Building Supplies Corp.; Summary, Mrs. Deborah M. White.

Monday, June 12, 10 a.m. to 12 noon—Conducted Tour, Norfolk Southern Bus Corporation.

Tuesday, June 14, 10 a.m. to 12 noon—Topic: "How to be Courteous." Mrs. Deborah White will discuss topic; movie on courtesy; check list on tourist information; Mrs. Deborah M. White, awarding Retail Institute Certificate; R. P. Draine, Area Supervisor, Distributive Education.

Princess Anne County has subscribed more than one-half of its quota of $250,000 in the Opportunity Bond Sales drive now underway with $14,531.25 cashed up, only a little more than $5,000 remains and the county goes over the top in the present drive.

Dear Graduates of Princess Anne County Schools:

Well, kids, you have finished the first step in a long road that you will have to travel. For some of you, it is just the beginning, for others it is the end of your schooling. But whichever group you fall in, you can bet that it is just the beginning of living... Just the beginning of taking on a lot of trouble and a lot of happiness, a lot of trouble and a lot of joy. There will be some serious tears and some serious laughter.

Why, you have everything before you. You have youth, and whether you have finished high school or college, you have the start of knowledge.

Don't let it disillusion you, but you haven't even a little start on knowing everything. But you have the beginning—now it is up to you to go ahead with your life on a sensible basis. Accept your part of the world that you have inherited, and try your little bit to make it a better place.

Some joker handed you problems that the smartest scholars are afraid to touch—you have the atom, and wars, and rumors of wars. That same joker, a few years from now will raise Cain with you regardless of the way you have gone about trying to solve the problems he handed you. So the only thing for you is to do your best, and accept the responsibility that is your birthright, now that you have grown up and graduated.

And congratulations, Graduate, you have the stuff and we oldsters are depending on you.

Cavalier Sailing Races Sunday on Linkhorn Bay

Three Classes of Sailing Craft to Participate

An outstanding sports event of the season are the Cavalier Sailing Races, scheduled for Sunday, June 12, at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club. This will mark the third year of the regatta which is attracting wide interest in this section and throughout the state.

Three classes of sailing craft will be featured in the races—the Hampton One, Moth and Snipe.

The races, which will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday morning and will resume again at 2 p.m. will be run over a three-mile course on the waters of Linkhorn Bay, with all marks to starboard.

Contestants will vie for the Cavalier Challenge Cup and individual trophies for first, second and third places in each division. Originally the races were open only to Hampton One design craft. Last year the demand for a moth class was so great that race officials opened competition in that class as an added feature. The newcomers in the 1948 edition of the growing race program will be snipes, which have proven popular among salt water sailors in this region.

Contestants will need to sail under full canvas, according to race committee chairman Herbert White. Although entries have been somewhat slow in arriving, he predicted today that a large number of boats will be on hand when the first warning gun is fired from Bird Neck Point. Last year 32 boats entered the races.

Owners of power boats and pleasure craft who wish to see the races have been invited to the Cavalier Yacht Basin for the day.

Water Tower Being Demolished

The old water tower on Virginia Beach Boulevard, at the outskirts of town, is coming down. Making room for the new structure ordered by the town to be erected at a cost of $34,000, the 40-year old landmark was recently condemned to the scrap pile as being unsafe for further use.

The same company that will put up the new water tower is tearing down the old—at a cost of $24,000 to the town. The Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel Company hopes to have the new tower in place and functioning by September 1.

CHAPLAIN DAVIS TO BE GUEST MINISTER

The Rev. T. C. Davis, chaplain of the Oceana Auxiliary Air Station, will be the guest minister at the morning worship service at Oceana Methodist Church Sunday, June 12.

Tentative Town Budget May Be Ready for Consideration by Town Council at Tuesday's Meeting

JWC Begins Series Of Projects for Better Community

Club Hopes to Win Kroger Company's National Contest

The Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County has lined up a series of community projects to get underway in the near future as a part of their "Build A Better Community" activity, by which they hope to win the national contest sponsored by the Kroger Company among Federated Women's Clubs throughout the nation.

"Clean-up Month" will be the first of the series, and will run throughout the month of June, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Wolcott, Jr.

The Junior Women have asked that each individual clean up his property during the month. "We want to be proud to show our town to our out-of-state guests," said Mrs. Mary Moore, publicity chairman, "and we want everyone to take a part to help us succeed. If you fall us in this plea, don't be surprised to see a group of Juniors armed with brooms and trash cans appear on the scene! We are serious about cleaning up the unsightly places that spoil the beauty of our town."

"Monday, June 13, will find Juniors out to get this work done. So, keep your eyes open for the Junior Women of Princess Anne County," Mrs. Moore added.

Three other projects in the "Better Community Campaign" are scheduled. A directory of all the local churches, stating location and time of services will be compiled. These directories will be placed in hotels and restaurants. Mrs. John Tucker will head the committee.

The July project will be suggestion boxes to be placed in hotels and businesses houses to record the likes and dislikes of the tourists in an effort to better our community. Mrs. R. Lynn Kennett has been named chairman of the committee to handle the suggestion boxes.

Fly control for Princess Anne County is being investigated by the club for incorporation as still another project. The cooperation of the citizens and town officials is being sought to bring about the complete destruction of flies in the community.

NOTICE

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular business meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the director's room of the National Bank of Commerce, on Atlantic Avenue.

Norfolk Water Rate Also Scheduled for Discussion

Lawrence Lockwood, town manager, said that he hoped to have the tentative budget for the coming fiscal year ready for consideration at the regular council meeting, scheduled for June 14. The fiscal year begins September 1.

The budget is expected to incorporate a new tax rate for the town, in keeping with the doubled assessments now in effect in the Town of Virginia Beach. The assessments were authorized last fall, to be effective for the 1949 tax year, in order to raise the bonded limit of the town to permit the issuance of $500,000 of public improvement bonds.

Although he did not indicate what tax rate would be necessitated to cover the next year's expenditures, Mr. Lockwood said that he and town officials expected to "live up to what was said in the pre-bond referendum campaign." At that time it was said that total dollar value of taxes would not be increased.

Another topic of interest to Beach residents, expected to be brought up at the Tuesday meeting of the Council will be the water rate with Norfolk. Town officials, with Mr. Lockwood, have been in negotiation with City Manager C. A. Harrell, of Norfolk, on the rate to be charged to supply water to Virginia Beach by the City of Norfolk. No results of the negotiations have yet been made public. The town's contract with Norfolk comes up for renewal by January 1, 1950.

Norfolk supplies water to the other sections of Princess Anne County on a flat rate per 1000 gallons to individual users. To the Town of Virginia Beach, however, cost is billed to the town at the town limits, where the town takes over distribution through its own water mains, and also bills customers.

Public Invited to Attend Dance at Cavalier Club

Proceeds to be Used For Final Payment On Canal Project

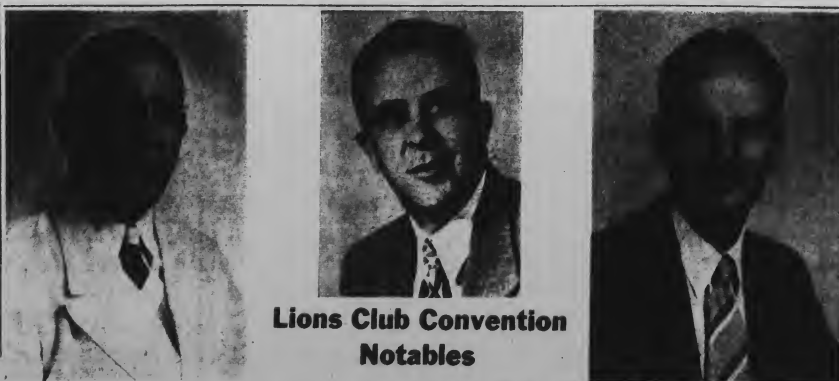

A dance will be held tonight at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club, open to the public, for the benefit of the Beach Channel Association's canal project between Lynnhaven and Broad Bays.

Sponsors of the event are members of the yachting division of the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club, who plan to use proceeds of the dance to complete final payment on the dredging project, which has now been completed.

A cover charge of $1.50 per person, plus tax, will be required for admittance to the dance. Charlie Fisk and his orchestra, currently playing at the Beach Club, will furnish music and entertainment for the night.

Rufus Kight, manager of the Cavalier Yacht Club, said that a good attendance at the dance would virtually assure completion of payment on the canal dredging, and would leave the waterway system leading to the Cavalier Yacht basin and Linkhorn Bay debt-free.

The Beach Channel Association began the project with a three-fold purpose—to open the waters of Linkhorn Bay to all types of pleasure craft; to alleviate the trouble encountered in entering and leaving by the circuitous and perilous Long Creek route, and to foster sport and deep sea fishing for resort patrons and year-round inhabitants.

Lions Club Convention Notables

FLORIDA RACING TAX BUILDS SCHOOLS

Racing—through taxation—is an important source of revenue for many local governments, and nowhere is this more apparent than in Florida. The construction of schools and highways and the care of the needy and aged are financed through pari-mutuel taxes collected in the state.

Since 1932, when Hialeah Park opened, about $75,000,000 has been collected from Florida racing, and the total will be increased by an estimated $12,500,000 from the 1949 season.

'Velvet' Revenue

Because Florida's horse and dog racing tracks and jai alai fronts are supported mostly by out-of-staters, the money is all "velvet." A relatively small portion is contributed by Florida's citizens, many of whom are hundreds of miles away from the tracks and are infrequent patrons.

Racing revenue in the state goes to two main sources—the individual county governments and the State Welfare Board for distribution among the aged and needy. Since there are 67 counties in the state, the monev is sliced pretty thin. Nevertheless, each county has received $605,248 from racing since 1932.

Accomplishes Much

Information supplied by the clerks of the circuit courts in the various counties and published in a booklet by Hialeah Park reveals that the counties get a lot done with their share of the betting taxes.

Several counties already have built hospitals, while others are saving up funds for the same purpose. A total of 21 counties use pari-mutuel revenue for health units, while many underwrite the hospitalization of charity cases with racing funds.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JUNE 8, 1928

Tuesday, June 12, 1928, was election day at Virginia Beach, with interest reportedly high. Polls were scheduled to open at 4:45 a.m., and close at 7:30 p.m. W. R. Ashburn was candidate for mayor, without opposition. Four candidates were on the lists for the treasurer's post: Miss Cornelia Holland, James Jordan, Jr., J. E. Woodhouse and Courtney Stomont. R. B. Taylor, who has filed for treasurer, incumbent, had withdrawn his candidacy. Candidates for the six councilmanic posts were: V. B. Hodgson, C. E. Barco, W. H. Terry, Jr., Lawrence Lockwood, A. H. Callow, Tom Stormont, John Sparrow, E. E. Chapman, Roy Barnes, H. R. Leonard, W. P. Lipscomb, and Sidney Simmons.

The Woman's Municipal League of Virginia Beach, urging householders to eliminate the common housefly, put on sale a large stock of fly traps to be sold at cost.

A short article declared: Recent federal tax reduction measures to mean annual savings to taxpayers of approximately $222,495,000. A 3 per cent tax on automobiles has been removed.

At the movies, John Gilbert and Greta Garbo appeared in "Love," a filming of Anna Karanina, with Garbo in "the role of the tragic Anna, who sacrifices all for love, only to be dogged by a strange and sinister doom!"

The Oceana WCTU met at Oceana, with a large number of persons attending.

The Weekly, as usual, reported that the average temperature for May was slightly under normal.

The baseball team of the Virginia Beach Athletic Club was defeated 11-9 by the Lambert Point Grays. Games were played on the baseball diamond at the corner of 24th and Baltic Avenue.

HARRY S. Moyer announced Bell, Jr., owner, Cavalier Park; plans for a canoe club on Crystal Lake.

National Capital Airways Corporation, which planned air service between Richmond and Virginia Beach, decided to accept the Garrett Smith property for a landing field. The property was located west of Oceana between Virginia Beach and Laskin Boulevard. The property was offered by Mr. Smith for the use of the company for four months without cost, with sales negotiations to follow if it proved satisfactory for the purpose.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

By Reynolds Knight

That postwar world we once dreamed of is here. It's even beginning to show its age a little. It's amazing to find—when checking back over the wartime issues of Behind the Scenes—how many of the "Things to Come" products heralded then are actually here now in enormous, everyday quantities. During the war, this column spoke of detergents. Though not entirely new, detergents did not win firm market acceptance until the soap shortage. Now some 300 brands are on the market, and are steadily winning a substantial share of the business once held by conventional soaps. New kinds of dishwashing machines also were a favorite prediction of those wartime Behind the Scenes columns. They lived up to their forecasts with a vengeance. Next to the new television set, the dishwasher seems to be the American family's most talked-of possession. Last year 225,000 dishwashers having a retail value of some $60 million were sold. And no housewife needs to be told that new types of canned goods are here today, exactly as predicted during the war in these columns.

IN THE SLOT—Along with toasters, automatic vending machines of varying degrees of mechanical wizardry were another favorite "Things to Come" subject. Of course there's nothing really new in vending machines.

Back in 200 B. C. residents of Alexandria could purchase sacred water by dripping five drachmas in a slot. Today nearly 3,000,000 coin-operated "silent salesmen" are vending such varied items as gasoline, sandwiches, hosiery, lotions, aspirin tablets, beverages, insurance policies, over-night kits, frozen foods and freshly cooked snacks.

Builders of automatic vending machines have been outdoing each other in perfecting mechanical robots with almost human intelligence. Engineers of SKF Industries, Inc., say some machines now have as many as 1,400 moving parts, functioning efficiently with complicated gears and anti-friction bearings that turn a canny eye on prospective customers to make change and reject slugs and phony money.

Latest estimates are that by 1950 75,000,000 persons will be dropping close to $5 billion a year into automatic vendors. The trend may revolutionize the whole theory and practice of merchandising.

THINGS TO COME—for the Brazilians: radio sets, home lighting equipment, fans, waffle irons and other appliances will be made at home under license agreements with Westinghouse. Deal was concluded during President Dutra's recent visit to the States . . . It may take some of the joy out of the sport, but the new aluminum skis just announced need no waxing . . . Ever the optimist, man continues his war against the moth. A new preventive called "Cedacote" is said to be four times as powerful as other repellents . . . Now you can open a door without turning a knob. A Canadian company announces a push-button device that opens the latch . . . For those fine lines of legal print there's a new reading glass that magnifies and indicates attend classes eight hours daily. They get a broad look at the whole field for which they're being trained, whether it's engineering or non-technical work. Still another firm selects 40 to 500 engineering college graduates yearly and enrolls them in a two-year course in the firm's own post-graduate engineering school. The engineers are paid while in the school, and get an accredited master's degree in engineering at the end of the course. They then take jobs in engineering departments of the company.

"The fact that we go out to colleges after 'men means only that we want to locate suitable candidates," explains one firm's college relations staff director. "Any college graduate who applies for a position gets just as much consideration as if we'd made the initial approach."

The Best Way to Provide for Your Family's Future

When you build a home of your own you provide shelter and a good life for your family now, and in the future. As you pay for it, month by month, you are building a solid financial foundation for yourself. No matter what uncertainties the future holds, as long as your home stands you and your family have shelter, security and stability.

payments are both rent and savings. If you are renting, don't wait, for even if properly values declined in five or six years, you would be ahead—you'd still have a home, not just a pile of rent receipts. Moreover, with postwar shortages of material and labor over, the quality of today's homes is better than it has been in years.

Miss Janet Cameron, State Food and Nutrition Specialist, will hold a one-day workshop at the Community House in Suffolk Friday, June 17, on "Giving Efficient Demonstrations."

Miss Nancy Bonney, of Creeds Senior Club, will demonstrate the correct method of preparing custard dessert for the entire group. Club members and leaders from Norfolk, Nansemond, Southampton and Princess Anne will attend.

Miss Jane Craig, home agent, asks that any club leader or member planning to attend call her office, No. 3330, about plans for the trip.

Picnic Center

Impromptu picnics for the family are likely to be easier and more successful if a picnic corner in the kitchen or other convenient center is arranged for the season, extension specialists suggest. If the utensils and dishes needed are set aside in one place, the family can pick up and go whenever the picnic urge comes on. In the picnic corner keep a handy basket, thermos jug, lightweight picnic plates and cups, paper napkins, waxed paper or sandwich bags, salt and pepper shakers, sugar containers and other essentials.

A list of items usually needed for picnics posted on wall or cupboard nearby can be checked the last minute to be sure nothing is forgotten.

A picnic meal, say these specialists, never has to be expensive, indigestible or difficult to prepare. It can include all the protective foods needed by various ages in the family—fresh fruits, raw vegetables, eggs, milk, fruit drinks, sandwiches made with meat, fish, eggs or other protein fillings.

Extension Training

The field is wide open—to college girls training to be home demonstration agents, says Miss Maude E. Wallace, assistant director of the Extension Service at V. P. I. As long as there are people who want a higher standard of living, there will be a demand for home agents to take the findings of laboratory research to the home.

At V. P. I., the only college in the State where specific training for extension service work is available, the girls are instructed in all the basic home economics courses, and in sociology, extension methods, journalism, public speaking, demonstration cookery, program planning. They also are taught landscape gardening, poultry production, home dairying community development.

Their training includes two months in the field, where they go with a home agent on her daily rounds, conduct meetings, learn to make reports, and in general, are given a birds-eye view into their prospective profession.

The college is headquarters for personnel of Virginia's Agricultural Experiment Station and for almost 400 extension service workers who translate research into practical application for Virginia's rural people. The girls see the basis for the recommendations they will be making. They learn, firsthand, how to be an efficient pipeline from the laboratory to the farm home.

Each year at the college, there are several short courses and conferences, all part of the extension program to reach the most people with the best information. Some of them are: the Institute of Rural Affairs, scheduled this year for August 3-5; the State 4-H Club Short Course, to be held June 27-July 2; the annual Extension Service Conference, to be held August 22-26.

Club Ladies Urged To Attend Workshop By Club President

Miss Martha Philips Van Patten Married Saturday Evening to Ensign Robert Kenyon Ripley

Galilee Episcopal Church was the setting Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Martha Philips Van Patten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Alfred Van Patten, of Linkhorn Park, to Ensign Robert Kenyon Ripley, USN, son of Mrs. Sherwood Lyman Ripley, of Kallispell, Montana, and the late Mr. Ripley. The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Hugo Blankenship, of Havana, Cuba, and the Rev. Edmund Berkeley, rector of the church, in the presence of relatives and friends. The church was decorated with palms and white flowers and candles. The wedding music was played by Mrs. George L. Aldridge.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her maternal grandmother's wedding gown with white chiffon, fashioned with a high round neckline, sweetheart yoke of point lace, outlined with a wide band of satin trimmed with seed pearls and ruffle of the same lace, and shirred chiffon skirt with satin panels in front and back embroidered in seed pearls. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion fell from a coronet of tulle embroidered in seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white stock centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Leon F. Herbert, of Washington, was her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Emily Heath MacBain, of Liongion, Pa., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. They wore gowns of hyacinth blue marquisette, fashioned with portrait necklines, fitted bodices and full skirts with bustles. They carried bouquets of yellow shasta daisies and were matching flower arrangements in their hair. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Joseph W. Cotten, Jr., and Miss Betty Mae Smith, of Virginia Beach; Mrs. Eleanor D. Angell, of "Shandy Hall-Farm," Tidewater, and Miss Margaret Flippin, of Richmond. Brown to Attend First Performance "Common Glory"

National Commander American Legion to Deliver Address

Perry Brown, National Commander of the American Legion, has accepted an invitation to attend the opening performance of the third season of "The Common Glory," scheduled for July 1 which will be sponsored by the Virginia Department of the American Legion as a highlight of their program for "Americanism." J. Westwood Smithers, Commander of the Virginia Department announces.

Commander Brown will join with other dignitaries of the State and Nation in a brief pre-performance program and will deliver the principal address.

While this marks Commander Brown's first official visit to Virginia he has visited the State frequently, since his daughter is a student at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia. Several of his daughter's classmates at the college, incidentally, are members of the 1949 cast of "The Common Glory" which is now going into the first of four weeks of intensive rehearsals making ready for the opening date.

"The Common Glory" has been entirely re-staged for the new season by the 1949 director, John Baird, Broadway director and producer and, until recently, a major in Uncle Sam's forces.

Author Paul Green has revised the script to include several new scenes and the whole is both enriched and strengthened.

An enlarged ballet and much additional music are also features of the new season.

The drama will be presented every night except Mondays, from July 1 until Labor Day and reserved seats will go on sale at the office of the producing unit, the Jamestown Corporation, Williamsburg, on June 15.

Half of Annual Drownings Occur During Three Summer Months

Most of the people in the United States do not know how to swim, and that's the basic reason why drowning becomes one of the most important causes of accidental death in the summer.

National Safety Council figures show that about half the drownings each year take place in only three months—June, July and August. Drownings show the greatest seasonal increase of any summer hazards.

So if you are planning to swim this summer—and it's fine exercise as well as pleasant recreation—pay attention to these suggestions from the Council:

Learn to Swim Well

Self-taught "dog paddlers" too often think they are swimmers and overestimate their abilities. Know your limits as a swimmer and stay within them. And don't think that all water is the same.

Never swim alone. Always have help at hand, preferably a life-guard with the knowledge and equipment for rescue. Don't swim after dark for the same reason. It is too hard for even an expert to assist you in the dark.

It is dangerous to dive into water of undetermined depth. Submerged rocks or logs may knock you out. Sudden plunges into cold water should be avoided. Go in gradually, and remember that you tire faster in cold water. Don't plunge into water when you are overheated, and wait at least an hour after eating to swim.

Franks are Dangerous

Never jokingly call for help, and don't splash or annoy others who are timid in the water. Horseplay and pranks cause many water accidents each year.

Even strong swimmers are subject to cramps and bad guesses on their endurance. If you want to swim for any distance, have someone follow you in a boat.

Don't let children take beach balls, inflated animals or light rubber rafts in the water. A gust of wind often blows them beyond reach, and in trying to retrieve them, a child may get beyond his depth. This is a point adults should keep in mind, too.

Dedication of Parsonage to be Held Sunday

Dedicatory services will be held for the South Princess Anne Methodist Charge Parsonage on the parsonage lawn Sunday at 4 p.m. Dr. Frank L. Wells, superintendent of the Norfolk District, will deliver the dedication address.

and lead the litany of dedication. H. M. Dudley, chairman of the trustees, will present the recently canceled note for burning. Music will be under the direction of Frank Matthews and the Knolls Island Choir. The three churches which com-

WHEN WIVES BECOME WIDOWS

Last year thousands of wives became widows — many were mothers forced to leave home during the day, for work, in order to feed and clothe their children.

Don't let your wife join this group — ask us "How Much" and "What Kind" would be required to prevent such a situation.

Beach Police Force Host During Week to Police School for Local And Princess Anne Co. Forces

Final Session of School Monday at Camp Pendleton

The Virginia Beach Police Force this week played host to a police school for Beach and Princess Anne County forces, and for military and shore patrols.

Designed as an indoctrination and refresher course, the instruction as well as approval of the entire program came from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Chief of Police Reeves E. Johnson, in his welcome address to the approximately 30 police officers attending the school, described it as "another step to raising the standard and recognition of our profession." Chief Johnson said that years ago officers came to their duties with only their uniform badge, gun and blackjack, and average common sense, but now, he declared modern efficiency demands that police be well trained. "It is just as foolish an act to give an untrained man a club and gun to perform complex police duties as it would be to give a kit of surgical instruments to him to do a job as a doctor."

Lawrence Lockwood told the men that he welcomed the opportunity to see the school in action. "We want reasonable and liberal law enforcement," he said, "but we are not in a position to tolerate flagrant violations of the law."

The school, which opened on Monday, heard E. C. Richardson, special agent in charge of the FBI in Norfolk, discuss public relations, Virginia rules of evidence, and jurisdiction of the Federal agencies.

On Tuesday, Harry L. McCarthy, assistant special agent in charge, and W. Marvin Baker, special FBI agent, discussed traffic and techniques and mechanics of arrest.

On Wednesday, Robert K. Herbertson, another special agent, discussed interviews and testifying in court. Yesterday's session was given over to details of report writing and duties of the police, by Chief Johnson.

The school will wind up Monday with instruction in safety rules and in revolver shooting, outdoor firearms demonstrations and instruction in pistol shooting by W. Marvin Baker, FBI special agent, and special instruction on the pistol range at Camp Pendleton.

Allen Faircloth Joins Staff of Pharmacists At Meredith's No. 1

Allen Faircloth, recent graduate from the Medical College of Virginia, has accepted a position as a registered pharmacist with Meredith Drug Company at its 17th Street Store.

A native Virginian, Mr. Faircloth comes to Virginia Beach from Ivoir. He is making his home with Mrs. J. D. Bryant at 36th Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Oceana Vacation Church School to Begin June 20

A Vacation Church School for boys and girls of the community will be conducted in the Oceana Methodist Church June 20 to July 1.

Mrs. L. S. Hiteshow will be director of the school and will be assisted by Mrs. N. B. Godfrey, Mrs. P. K. Olesley, Mrs. W. O. Godfrey, Mrs. H. E. Prizell, Mrs. Andrew Craddock and Mrs. G. H. Weitzel.

The daily sessions will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. All children of the community 4 to 14 years of age are invited to enroll in the school.

Hollander, Victim Of Nazis, to Speak Here June 21

Mrs. Boissevain to Appear at First Presbyterian Church

Mrs. Adrienne M. Boissevain, of Holland, will speak on Tuesday, June 21, at 10:30 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church. All denomination have been invited to attend the meeting which brings to Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County one of the world's outstanding women internationalists.

Now on a six-month speaking tour of the United States, Mrs. Boissevain, with her husband and five children, was victim of war's savagery. At the outbreak of World War II the family soon became deeply involved in underground activities. Jan Boissevain, her husband, was imprisoned in 1941 and died in Buchenwald shortly before Holland's liberation. The two oldest boys, 24 and 34, were shot by the Germans. The third son was sent to Dachau.

Mrs. Boissevain, herself, was shuttled from one prison to another. In 1944 she was sent to Ravensbrück, near Berlin, the most disreputable concentration camp for women. She was liberated by the Red Cross in April, 1945, weighing only 65 pounds in contrast to her normal 145.

She returned to Holland and her three remaining children, two daughters and the son, and found her home stripped by the Germans.

Prominent in club and civic life in The Netherlands, she started her crusade for world unity. She is well prepared for this work by her major in English at Utrecht University.

But she emerged from her wartime hardships free of bitterness and with one deep conviction—that all men belong together—that life on earth means unity.

As a symbol of this conviction, she founded the National Skirt organization. Made of remnants, patches and memories of times gone by, reunited to a new, harmonious unity and gathered on a solid base, the patchwork skirts symbolize the gay and sad events of the past united to form the present and encourage a brighter outlook on the future.

There were 65 graduates in the 1949 class, according to Mr. Owens.

ORDER EASTERN STAR TO MEET TUESDAY; POT LUCK SUPPER TO FOLLOW

Members of the Virginia Beach Chapter 75, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold their regular meeting Tuesday, June 21. On the same day, at 6:30 p.m., a pot luck supper will be held. All the ladies are requested to bring a sandwich and a covered dish. Members are asked to bring their families and enjoy their supper together.

COMING DOWN BECAME DOWN—Soon after this picture was made of the dismantling of the 40 year-old pressure-equalizer tower at the outskirts of Virginia Beach, the structure took an unexpected tumble, and approximately ten tons of the tank splashed into the storage reservoir nearby, accomplishing a near miss on the water pumping station, treatment plant, and high tension power lines. The walls of the reservoir were damaged but slightly.

Water Supply Is Saved by Miracles As Tower Topples

Little Damage Done Reservoir; Tank Quickly Removed

Virginia Beach's harrassed water supply had another narrow brush with disaster Wednesday when the water tower, in the process of being dismantled, toppled into the town's reservoir.

Several miracles seemed to have been passed in quick succession for the falling tank, which weighed in the neighborhood of ten tons, missed falling across the highway, missed falling on the pumping station where the water is treated before going into the town's mains, and missed, by inches it seemed, falling across high tension wires attached to the transformer which runs the pumps. Even the wind was in the town's favor, for its direction and velocity had much to do with the direction of fall of the tower.

The reservoir stood up under the impact of the falling steel, with only minor damage done to the top of the structure. A crane, brought out immediately from Norfolk, lifted the heavy tower from the reservoir.

Carroll Bouds, town engineer, said: "We are mighty lucky. It could have been a lot worse. As it is, everything is fine. . . . no leaks in the reservoir, not even any fluctuation in the town's water pressure."

The Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, which is dismantling the tower, will stand the cost of repair to the reservoir.

Six Local Men Get Degrees at U. of Va.

Six Virginia Beach students were among the 400 University of Virginia students receiving degrees at final exercises this week. They are Henry Morris Jarvis, III, B.S.; Harrison Oliver Brown, Jr., Calvin Eugene Davis, Arthur Gardner Harden and Franklin Wingate Woodhouse, B.A.

President Colgate W. Darden conferred degrees on the graduates, and Sir Oliver Franks, British Ambassador to the United States, delivered the address to a graduating class.

The Virginia Beach playground opened formally last week, under the supervision of Mrs. Orlan M. Avett. Hours of supervision for beach youngsters at the playground, located on Pacific Avenue at 20th Street, are from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Mrs. Avett, who has been in charge of the municipal playground for several years, has organized games and play for all ages of children. Several softball teams for boys aged 8 to 12 have been formed, but the supervisor hopes that others will take an interest. She has asked that any boys interested in playing in the boys' league get in touch with her at the playground on Monday, if possible.

It is the hope of the playground officials that churches will organize softball teams among their young members at this time.

If enough girls in the same age group are interested in playing softball or tennis, Mrs. Avett has asked that they report to her at the playground.

For small children, the playground offers a variety of slides, swings, seesaws, bars, sandbox, and merry-go-round. Group games under the supervision of Mrs. Avett are played in the afternoon.

Mrs. Avett said that many parents are enjoying the tennis courts near the playground while their offspring enjoy the more juvenile sports.

Mrs. Val Morgan Elected President Legion Auxiliary

Final Meeting of Season Held at Community House

Announcement of the four Princess Anne County girls who will attend Girls State at Blacksburg, election of officers for the coming year, and naming of delegates to the State Convention of American Legion Auxiliaries highlighted the final meeting of the season of Princess Anne County Unit 113 of the American Legion Auxiliary held Monday evening at the Community House.

Mrs. Val Morgan was named president of the organization to succeed Mrs. Basil Manly, who has held that post during the past year. Other officers named are Mrs. J. M. Carter, 1st vice president; Mrs. B. C. Davis, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Manly, secretary; Mrs. W. C. Davis, treasurer; and Mrs. John C. Bradburne, historian; Mrs. C. H. Ducey, chaplain; and Mrs. W. E. Sale, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. S. M. Simpson, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers which the Unit voted to accept intact.

Four Princess Anne County girls will attend the Girls State at Blacksburg, July 17-23. Sponsoring the girls are the Auxiliary, the Ruritan Club and the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County.

The girls honored with the scholarships are Joanne Ero, of Kempsville; Jackie Whitehurst, of Creeds; Betty Lou Eugley, of Oceana; and Anita Etheridge, of Creeds. The Auxiliary is sponsoring two, according to Mrs. Henry Meyer, who made the announcement of the appointments.

Delegates named to attend the State Convention of Auxiliaries will be held August 4-7 in Danville, are Mrs. Manly, Mrs. Ducey, and Mrs. B. C. Davis, Alternates are Mrs. S. M. Brock and Mrs. Val Morgan. The headquarters of the Danville convention will be at the Burton Hotel.

Other business at the Monday evening meeting of the group was the announcement by Mrs. B. C. Davis of the results of the Poppy Day sale, on May 28. More than $400 was realized, she said. In connection with the sale, Mrs. Ducey was presented a pin in appreciation of her record sales.

Mrs. Casper reported the results of the district meeting which was held late in May in Portsmouth, and Mrs. Ducey reported on her trip with a committee of Auxiliary members to a veterans hospital.

Mrs. Alice Brewer White Attending Chicago Convention

Mrs. Alice Brewer White, woman's director of radio station WTAR, Norfolk, left for Chicago early this week where she will conduct a radio clinic at the Pilot Club International Convention being held at the Hotel Sheraton.

The Pilot Club, of which Mrs. White is a member, is one of five women's executive clubs in the nation. More than 1,000 women will attend the Chicago meeting from the United States, Canada, France, and other countries.

Last night Mrs. White introduced the officers and district governors of the organization on a nation-wide radio hookup. During her trip she will make transcriptions of interviews with national celebrities for use on her Woman's World program.

Virginia Beach Briefs

POLICE COURT on Tuesday night handled a docket of 90 cases, largest in Beach history. Of the 90, 71 were traffic cases, reflecting the Police Department's determination to make traffic safe for residents and visitors. Fines totaling $1400 for the night's operations (includes costs) reflect the fact that Judge Gresham is backing up the determination of the force.

WORK ON THE BOARDWALK began on Thursday, with part of the steel delivered, and the balance on the way. Total final cost set at $180,000 to contractors Ganaway & Magann.

WORK IS UNDERWAY on the Willoughby T. Cooke School additions. Four rooms, expanded lunchroom, and lavatories are scheduled for completion by September 1, 1949.

VIRGINIA BEACH LICENSE TAGS are past due, and police have been ordered to issue summons for those local motorists not having tags for their vehicles. Also required to have them are persons living out of the town limits but whose principal place of business is within the town. Fine of $5 and costs for failure to have tags is more than the $9 cost of the tags and does not excuse you from eventually purchasing them.

WATER PRESSURE WOES are cropping up again, this time in North Virginia Beach. The booster pump in Cavalier Shores put into operation again this week partially alleviated the situation.

Ten County Young People Attending Youth Conference

Ten Princess Anne County young people are student delegates to the 1949 Diocesan Youth Conference being held at Blackstone College this week. They are Grace Atkinson and Cyrus Rust Cotton, of Oceana; Patsy Abernathy, George B. Barner, James P. Barton, Jr., Charlotte Bugbe, Waverly J. Dickens, III, Diane Newton, William Strode, Jr., and Robert G. Shelly, of Virginia Beach.

Mrs. George Barner, of Virginia Beach, is one of the counselors for the Blackstone conference.

Under the leadership of the Rt. Rev. George P. Gunn, of Norfolk, diocesan conductor of the diocese who is serving as conference chaplain, and the Rev. Robert H. Thomas, III, rector of Brandon Parish and conference dean, the delegates began last Sunday an intensive program of study and recreation which will last through Saturday morning, June 18, when a communion service at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Blackstone will bring the 1949 youth meeting to a close.

Regular class periods, taught by ministers and youth leaders from the diocese, have been observed daily throughout the week, and devotional services each morning and evening have followed the conference theme, "The 400th Anniversary of St. Book of Common Prayer."

ROBERT W. DAIL FIRM MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

The Robert W. Dail firm of accountants has moved to new quarters in Suite 200-202 at 2022 Atlantic Avenue, according to an announcement. Mr. Dail formerly occupied quarters at 1803 Atlantic Avenue.

Officials Claim Raise Can be Absorbed By the Town

Virginia Beach hopes to absorb the added cost of water to the town and not pass it on to Beach consumers when the new water contract with the City of Norfolk becomes effective January 1, 1950.

That is the statement made by town council members at the Tuesday session when the contract, now in the process of negotiation, was under discussion. The council authorized Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood to proceed with negotiations along the lines of a three-clause contract suggested in discussions between Mr. Lockwood and Norfolk City Manager C. A. Harrell.

The contract would be made for a five-year period; would permit cancellation after three years with a six-months notice by either party to the contract; would set a charge of 20 cents per 1,000 gallons of water delivered to the town's pumping station at the outskirts of town until such time as Norfolk issues a proposed $4,000,000 of water bonds, at which time the cost to Virginia Beach would jump to 22½ cents per thousand gallons.

The new rate represents an increase of 33 1/3 per cent over the present cost of 15 cents, but, according to Mr. Lockwood and other members of the town council, is as reasonable as can be expected at this time.

Councilmen objected to the two-way cancellation clause proposed in the contract, expressing the fear that it could mean that water to Virginia Beach could be cut off at the caprice of Norfolk. Town Manager Lockwood was requested to talk further with City Manager Harrell in an effort to have the offending clause stricken from the contract.

The council also voted to retire a $10,000 school note, due December 31, with funds left over from the recent school bond issue after construction of additions to Willoughby T. Cooke and purchase of equipment. Two council members declined to cast their votes, and questioned the legality of the move. Councilmen Barr and Simpson pointed out that a similar question has been put before the Commonwealth's Attorney General in connection with funds left over after construction of additions to the Kempesville School.

According to the councilmen, the Attorney General has not yet handed down his decision as to the legality of such a transfer of funds.

Town Manager Lawrence Lockwood handed members of the council copies of the proposed General Fund Budget and the School Budget, with the request that they study it with a view to acting on the budget at the July 12 meeting of the council.

The council agreed to award the contract for the town audit to M. Lu Goodman, Norfolk accountant, who has been auditing the town and county books for some years, for a fee of $750, the same amount as that charged for last year's audit. The body's action came after a suggestion by Town Manager Lockwood that action be deferred for at least two or three weeks in order that other accounting firms might be invited to bid on the audit.

PARDON US, BUT YOUR SLIP IS SHOWING

The Virginia Beach Town Council on Tuesday committed what might be no wild stretch of the imagination be called a faux pas of the first order, especially in view of the inclination on the part of the public to level criticism against governing bodies of all kinds and their "Machine" backers.

Over the recommendation of Lawrence Lockwood, the group at the Tuesday council meeting hastened to hire an auditor for the town's books without consideration of any other firm, without ascertaining whether or not another firm might be prepared to do a good job at a cheaper price ($750).

The News has no quarrel with Mr. M. L. Goodman, who we believe is an excellent accountant and a man of integrity, whose reputation is, and has been, above reproach. The News does have a quarrel with the arbitrary manner in which all ideas of asking for bids, all idea of any other person handling the books, in fact everyone but M. L. Goodman, was brushed aside by the Council's hasty action.

Mr. Lockwood said that other firms should be invited to submit bids; that it would mean a delay of little more than two or three weeks. He added: "It might be well to consider other bids for it is good business to change auditors once in a while in order to get a more comprehensive and unbiased audit of accounts." He proceeded to point out to the Council that it is the general practice in very large firms to assign auditors without the foreknowledge of the treasurer.

The Council, however, acted unanimously, with the Mayor voting with them, to renew Mr. Goodman's services "in view of his long service to the Town."

Naturally, the Virginia Beach News and no one we know is accusing anyone of dishonesty or unethical tactics.

But if anyone were inclined to do so, this type of arbitrary action is fuel and a hefty breeze to fan into flame a smoldering fire of conjecture.

And as we have said above, there are those who are critical of any administration and their political backers, and would welcome the opportunity to find an opening for further criticism. The Council's action is just such an opportunity.

THE POLICE SCHOOL

The Police Department of Virginia Beach, under the able leadership of the chief, Reeves E. Johnson, has taken a forward and progressive step in perpetuating its Police School, now in progress.

The school, designed to indoctrinate new members of the force, and as a refresher for old members, will do much to bring up the standard and standing of the profession. This year their schedule is a stiff one, with excellent instruction provided by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Any expense (the instruction is provided free of charge) is borne by the Police Department's Welfare Fund—not one cent from the town's coffers. The police themselves will pay for 2,000 rounds of ammunition so that the men may take advantage of the outdoor instruction in the use of firearms.

The school is an excellent thing, and the Police Department deserves the town's praise.

KEEP IT CLEAN

Various clubs have this spring joined the Princess Anne County Garden Club in a drive to keep Princess Anne County clean—the streets, roadways, and rural lanes—and have sought the assistance of the various governing bodies.

It is up to the individual, however, when he becomes aware of violations anywhere within the county to call them to the attention of the proper authorities. Those proper authorities are the police. Whenever possible, those aware of violations should find out the name of the offender as well, for just the automobile license number is not sufficient for prosecution in court.

There are ordinances on both the County's books and the Town's books against illegal dumping. Places for dumping of trash and refuse are clearly outlined, and it is the citizen's duty to know where and when trash may be disposed. Rigid enforcement by law with the assistance of individual citizens seems to be the best manner of stopping the dumping nuisance.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO—JUNE 15, 1928

The Weekly of June 15 headlined the fire which destroyed the Oceana High School on the preceding Saturday. Flames were covered by Mrs. H. M. Capps, of Oceana, about 2:15 Saturday morning, and she quickly summoned the Virginia Beach fire department and an engine company from Norfolk. The fire had made such headway that the structure could not be saved. It had been erected a little more than a year, at a cost of $75,000. Equipment brought the cost near $100,000. Insurance amounted to $25,000.

The Weekly printed a two-column picture of Herbert Hoover with the caption: "His nomination for the presidency is practically assured."

The New Waverly Hotel was to open formally on June 16. The paper described it as "the latest addition to modern resort accommodations."

Town election results put W. R. Ashburn (unopposed) in as Mayor, J. E. Woodhouse, Jr., treasurer, and Charles E. Barco, Lawrence Lockwood, Edgar E. Chapman, R. B. Taylor, V. B. Hodgson and W. P. Lipscomb made up the new Town Council. In all 349 votes were cast.

National Safety Council Cautions Vacationers During 4th of July

Going somewhere over the Fourth of July?

If you are, then plan your trip safely. But even if you stay home, keep safety in mind for the Fourth of July holiday—one of the most dangerous week-ends of the year.

That is the advice of the National Safety Council, which is coordinating a nation-wide campaign to hold down the usual upsurge in accidental deaths during the Independence Day celebration. One hundred and thirty national organizations, as well as state and city public officials, are cooperating in the effort.

Motor vehicle accidents lead the list of holiday hazards, the council said. Drowning from swimming and fishing accidents is the second biggest risk. Other deaths are due to fireworks and firearms, sunstroke and heat exhaustion, food poisoning, falls and miscellaneous accidents.

The death toll for the month of July last year was 8,700, the council said. While it is impossible to determine the exact number of deaths from all causes occurring during the Fourth of July holiday, the council said the total was well above the average for other days of the month.

The council expects more pleasure-seeking holiday motorists to pile into more cars and roll up more miles during this one week-end celebration than ever before in the nation's history. More than 33 million motor vehicles will be on the move during the holiday. The increasing number of new cars on the road and the substantial rise in gasoline consumption this year indicate a heavy death toll—unless everyone is fully aware of the holiday hazards and makes a real effort to avoid them.

"There are two ways to hold down deaths during the holiday period such as the Fourth," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

"One is for police, beach guards and others who have some authoritative control over public safety to be especially alert and vigorous in their enforcement of the rules of public behavior."

"The other is for all of us to recognize that holidays are dangerous days, and to drive a car, walk across the street, swim, fish or otherwise conduct ourselves in a safe and prudent manner."

"If everyone would keep in mind the words 'Take It Easy on the Fourth—Be Alive on the Fifth,' this Fourth of July would bring much less tragedy and much more pleasure."

U. S. Senator Swanson informed the Mayor of Norfolk that a channel survey would be made by the U. S. Government of the waters of Lynnhaven, Broad and Lynnhaven Bays. The object of the survey was to dredge the "Inlet to provide safe means of navigation for small boats into Lynnhaven Bay." (Sounds familiar, doesn't it?)

At the stores, Swift's Premium ham was selling at 23 cents per pound, and laundry soap, three large cakes for 17 cents.

Princess Anne County Highway System Has Cost $6,842,142

A total of $6,842,142 has been expended on the roads of Princess Anne County since the state went into the business of building and maintaining highways in Virginia.

This was disclosed with publication of a statistical appendix to the State Highway Commission's annual report for fiscal 1947-48.

From the time that the state highway system was established in 1918, a total of $4,465,071 has been expended for maintenance and construction on the primary highways of the county.

And since the state took over the county highways under the Byrd Road Law of 1932, a total of $2,377,071 has been expended on the secondary roads.

All in all, according to the statistical report, a total of $336,294,357 has been expended on the primary highways since 1918. A total of $145,585,888 has been invested in the secondary roads since 1932.

Despite these expenditures, the highways of the state still are not adequate for present day motor traffic. In other words, as one state highway engineer commented—"Good roads cost money—and they don't last forever. Unfortunately, there is no such thing as a permanent highway."

In the early days of state road construction in Virginia, a mile of hard-surfaced highway might cost as little as $4,000. Today, the minimum cost per mile for a very light duty highway is $15,000. A

Off-Grade Potatoes Now Available for Livestock Feeding

Livestock producers in Princess Anne County can now secure off-grade potatoes for the purpose of feeding livestock. These potatoes are available at the present time in practically any quantity desired from 10 bags to 300 bags, according to H. W. Culin, county agent.

Potatoes have proved to be an economical feed for livestock, Mr. Culin said, and it is suggested that farmers who have bags avail themselves of the opportunity of getting some of these off-grade potatoes without cost.

The only requirements are that the farmer must go to the county agent's office and make out an order for the quantity desired and he must agree to turn in a report at the end of the feeding period as to condition and results obtained.

Any further information desired can be secured from the county agent's office where application blanks are available for ordering potatoes for livestock feeding purposes.

Remember...?

... when cars looked like this?

There were no income, gift, or estate taxes. It was comparatively simple, tax-wise, to settle the largest estates.

But today, settling even a small estate may be a complex job. It calls for a variety of skills, and for the wide knowledge that comes only from experience.

Whether your estate is large or small is not important to us. But our experience can be important to you; still more important, later, to your family.

Fruit Buys for Hot Weather Meals

Housewives will find that some of the best fruit buys on summer markets this year are canned varieties. Canned peaches, canned mixed fruits, chiefly fruit cocktail, and canned apricots all promise to be reasonable in price because of large supplies on hand.

Canned peaches already are being offered at lower prices than last year and represent one of the most reasonably priced canned fruits in grocery stores generally.

Canners and wholesalers reported recently that they had over a million and a half more cases of canned peaches on hand this year than they had last year. They al-

Prevent Nitrogen Starvation
In Corn Agronomists Advise

Nitrogen-hungry corn is what Virginia farmers have to look out for now if they expect to keep ahead of their North Carolina neighbors in the 1949 "corn war," says P. H. DeHart, agronomist at V. P. I.

The yellowing, or "firing," that so many farmers think is caused by dry weather, is really "plain nitrogen starvation," Mr. DeHart says. If your corn begins to fire, bring out the nitrogen, and apply
it as a sidedressing.

Mr. DeHart points out that 100 pounds of a 16 or 20 per cent nitrogen fertilizer will not cost more than $3.00. This amount of fertilizer should produce at least 10 bushels more corn. However, a 100 bushel corn yield requires about 100 pounds of nitrogen and to get this amount will necessitate an application of about 500 pounds of 16 per cent nitrogen, 400 pounds of 20 per cent, or 300 pounds of 33 per cent.

All farmers in Princess Anne County should do their part to keep ahead of our North Carolina neighbors this year, and to do that it will be absolutely necessary to sidedress corn with nitrogen, he said. It should be pointed out though that the more bushels of corn a grower can produce on one acre, the cheaper the production per bushel will be, so to fertilize for maximum production will put money in the farmer's pocket.

The county agent advises that all of the nitrogen can be applied at this time if desired. However, it is felt that on sandy soil, higher yields will be secured by applying one-half of the nitrogen now and the other half when the corn begins to tassel.

Best Variety of Soy Beans Sought By County Farmers And Agencies

Eight demonstrations are being conducted in the county this year to determine the best variety of soy beans for this section, according to an announcement by H. W. Olin, county agent. The demonstrations are being conducted through the cooperation of the Princess Anne County Farm Bureau, the county agent's office and eight farmers of Princess Anne County.

Four soy beans that are high in oil content, and also good yielders, are being tried out in demonstrations on the farms of Horace Shirley and Jeb S. Ives, in the Blackwater District; J. B. Dudley and A. D. Malbon, in the Pungo District; A. J. Broughton and J. R. Flora, in the Seaboard District; D. S. Potter, in the Lynnhaven District; and G. B. Jackson, in the Kempsville District.

The soy beans being tried are 8-100 which is a hybrid soy bean and is much earlier maturing than other varieties normally grown here. The Ogden soy bean is a good yielder and grows in an upright position; this makes it desirable for combining. The Vol State soy bean is also noted for its high yields and is practically non-shatter proof. The Bonafide soy beans is also one of the best yielders and does not shatter before harvesting.

These soy beans are being tried out on various soil types in the county and with different planting dates; some being planted early while other plots will be planted after small grain.

The object of these demonstrations is to give the soy bean growers an opportunity to study the different varieties grown under different conditions so as to determine which ones will best suit their individual condition.

The program was a review of Mildred Spurrier Topp's "Smile Please," presented by Mrs. Lester S. Parsons. She was introduced by Mrs. E. L. King. Special guests were Mrs. George C. Manson, president, and Mrs. Russell W. Hatchett, past president of the Princess Anne Woman's Club; Mrs. C. L. Sneed, president, and Mrs. G. C. Cottons From Fashion World Adapted For Home Decorating

"Live as well as you look" with cottons," decorators are advising homemakers this summer.

Cottons today are bringing to houses the same fashionable look that they have long brought to women's wardrobes, decorating experts of House & Garden magazine report. Many of the fabrics that originally were intended for women's chic frocks have been adapted to use in the home as colorful draperies, upholstery, and slip covers.

Cottons in 1949 have important news to bring homemakers, the House & Garden interior decorators point out. New finishing processes, new dyes, and new methods of printing and fabricating cotton fabrics have given them tremendous popularity among decorators.

Bright new cottons are giving new faces and new personality to home fashions this season. There are cottons with self-ironing finishes that regain their original lines when they are hung up after laundering. There is a new crispness that will not wilt in hot, humid weather. There are cottons that resist wrinkles and creases and cottons that have been flame-proofed and mildew-proofed.

Fabrics Recommended

Among the fabrics recommended by the House and Garden home-furnishings authorities are: Tone-on-tone printed cottons with a damask effect.

Cottons with the crisp rustle of taffeta—the result of finishing treatments which actually transform the basic cloth.

Cottons and moire surfaces which launder beautifully.

Cottons with gold threads that give upholstery fabrics or slip covers gingham, welting, and trimmings.

Cotton Voiles

Cotton voiles, delicate and gossamer but sturdy in action.

Terry cloth in blazing colors, with an absorbent finish.

Flaunt cottons, reduced to miniature tartans.

Wideawake seersucker cottons, pinwale corduroys, and cords that do not wrinkle and need no ironing.

Brilliant Colors

Cottons in brilliant colors that give a three-dimensional look and will not fade in either sun or water.

Iridescent denims with the drapable softness of percale and pin-check denims in vivid hues.

The perennial cotton classics, unglazed chintzes, soft as saten and bonded for durability, and permanently glazed chintzes that keep their starchiness fresh.

Every year hundreds of motorists crash into the sides of trains, according to the National Safety Council. In no instance has the railroad been put out of business.

Nine "Camperships" To Camp Matoaka Awarded Girl Scouts

Princess Anne County Girl Scouts have had nine camp scholarships donated to them by civic organizations and individuals in the county. The camp scholarships, or "Camperships" as they are known among the girl scouts, entitle nine girls, one from each of the troops in the county, to attend Camp Matoaka for a two-week period.

Donors of the camperships are: The Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club, the Princess Anne County Rotary Club, the Virginia Beach Ruritan Club, the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, two from the Senior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, B. M. Stanton, Virginia Beach Lions Club, and one anonymous.

Camp Matoaka is situated on Lake Prince outside Suffolk, and is maintained for girl scouts in the area. There are three two-week periods during the summer season.

Mrs. Gerould M. Rumble Re-elected District Chairman

Mrs. Gerould M. Rumble, Virginia Beach, was re-elected District Chairman of Princess Anne County Girl Scouts at a meeting of the District Committee held recently. To serve with Mrs. Rumble, Mrs. Frank W. Cox, of Oceana, was elected secretary of the Committee for the coming year. She will take office in September.

Other members of the committee are: Mrs. Henry Hedy, Mrs. H. W. Newsome, Mrs. Robert Hofheimer, Mrs. David Pender, Jr., Mrs. H. W. Chaffee, Mrs. M. M. Parker, Mrs. V. A. Tiedgens, Mrs. Frank Burleson, and Miss Louise Luxford.

The meeting was the last of the current spring season for the committee.

Three Girl Scouts at Camp Matoaka

Three Princess Anne County girls left on Wednesday for "Senior Week" at Camp Matoaka, the Girl Scout camp at Lake Prince, near Suffolk. They are Patsy Grant and Beverly Bell, from Troop 230, Virginia Beach, and Barbara Reynolds, from Troop 302, Chesapeake Beach.

The girls will have a special program of activities, skills in the out-of-doors and discussion groups, all looking toward camp counselling when they are older.

Cottons Burst Into Bloom On Summer Fashion Scene

Summertime is cottontime in the fashion world.

From coast to coast the feminine fashion-wise are reveling in the colorful array of cottons the designers have provided this season.

There is a cotton outfit for every moment of the day, for every imaginable activity. There are town cottons, golf cottons, terrace cottons, dancing cottons; and what have you.

In 1949 the designers have planned the girls' wardrobe so that style and comfort go hand in hand, and cotton dominates the fashion scene in both sunlit and moonlit hours.

Week-ends and vacations see leisure-time cottons in full bloom. Strapless sundresses have become summer uniforms for vacationers because of their adaptability to every occasion. With the bolero or cover-up jacket, the sun dress becomes a town frock. Without the top, the sundress is perfect for daylight playtime hours or rooftop dancing.

Co-ordinated

Co-ordinated play-clothes, too, have the beautiful virtue of adaptability, according to the National Cotton Council. Swim suits, skirts, shorts, and jackets have been created in the same cotton fabric by many designers to give the traveler an all-around wardrobe in one ensemble.

Toni Owen's fashionable combination in a striking old East Indian print is typical of the cotton convertibles. The noted New York fashionist made the Empire line the basis of her four-piece convertible outfit. Elasticized bra and shorts go to the beach in style. A full, full skirt provides the necessary cover-up to change the costume into a sundress, while the addition of a becoming bodice converts the outfit into a town cotton.

Quick Change

The same quick change idea inspired Korday's printed cotton jumper dress. It can be worn with a white dotted swiss, lace-trimmed blouse for a luncheon frock or minus the blouse as a drop-shouldered, bare terrace dress. A matching stole adds another variation to the glamorous cotton costume.

California designer Pat Premo has an eye for versatility in her interpretation of the season's trend to sunbaths. She uses woven check cotton damask for a lovely sun dress. A brief jacket of the same material sparkles with fresh, snowy pique collar and cuffs.

Candy Stripes

A candy striped concoction by Cole of California is irresistible to teen-age glamor girls who like their sports seasoned with a dash of fashion. The swimsuit-dress is a sweet combination in brilliant red stripes contrasted with solids that repeat the vivid red. A one-piece swimsuit looks like a two-piece, for it's joined low in the back. A matching skirt in the solid cotton trimmed with stripes goes well with the swimsuit for a beach or patio ensemble. A little puffed sleeve, shirred bodice turns the changing outfit into a sun dress, while a full-length skirt works the necessary abracadabra to produce a square-dance frock.

Roundup of Contests To Be Held at VPI

Finals for most of the State 4-H Club contests will be held August 31 at V. P. I. instead of at various points, in Virginia as in previous years.

State club officials said all the contests in home economics, poultry, livestock and dairy judging and demonstration will be held at V. P. I. Finals in home economics contests last year were held in Richmond and the poultry contests were held at Jamestown Camp.

Reading With Glasses Off? Maybe You Did'nt Need Them

A number of optometrists prescribe glasses when none are needed, recommend new glasses when old ones are completely adequate, and frequently sell frames with a seven hundred per cent markup, according to an investigation reported in the June issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

The investigators, who were sent to several cities, found price spreads ranging from fifty cents to fifteen dollars for lenses of identical prescription. At some credit optical shops, the dealers made profits on down payments alone.

Anticipating that "various people will protest publication of this article," the editors state that their "one and only purpose is to present facts as they appear with the hope that this might turn out to be a useful public service."

At one credit place, an investigator was asked thirty-two dollars for lenses and frames costing $19.50 in a smart optical shop and $22.50 in a local department store.

Of the magazine's investigators, some wore glasses, others did not. Some needed glasses, others didn't. All presented themselves to oculists and optometrists for typical examinations and made summaries of diagnoses, fees, and costs of lenses and frames.

The article explains the vast differences between the licensed capabilities of opticians, optometrists, oculists and ophthalmologists, and recommends a safe way to have eyes examined and fitted for glasses.

"If you are a candidate for eye-glasses, your first problem is to choose between an oculist and an optometrist," says the report.

"Optometrists make their living from selling glasses... Therefore optometrists need the staunchest moral fiber to resist selling glasses to borderline patients who would probably be just as well off without them... Oculists, on the other hand—except for a few who indulge in kickbacks—earn the same ten-dollar or fifteen dollar examination fee whether they recommend no glasses or forty-dollar bi-focals. Since oculists generally are not in the business of making and selling glasses, despite their higher initial fee, they frequently represent a less costly choice."

Sometimes, the investigators report, optometrists grow indignant over the optical kickback racket. "Under the kickback system," they explain, "an oculist sends you to a specific optician to have your glasses made, and this optician rebates to the oculist a portion of the money you pay for glasses. Obviously, reputable oculists and opticians won't lend themselves to such procedure, and today it is believed to be rare... In the last decade the American Optometric Association has made considerable progress in raising professional standards and discouraging commercialism."

The article recommends some sight-saving rules which are calculated to guide readers in protecting their eyes. It reminds readers that their eyes are "the most delicate and complicated organ in nature" and that, according to estimates, eighty-three per cent of everything they know was learned through their eyes.

Blueprint Reading Not Hard to Learn By House-Hunters

House-hunters are frequently disappointed by prospects which "looked good on paper." This is because they don't know how to read blueprints—a knack which can be learned in less than an hour.

"The best way to read a blueprint is to 'live in it,'" says the June issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, which features a three-page course in the fundamentals of the subject. In a step by step diagram, the article tells how to use a blueprint by "entering the front door and walking through the house, room by room, eyeing every detail."

Continuing their "tour of a blueprint," the editors remind readers to: "note the size of the entry hall; measure distances; 'place' your furniture; and look through the windows; check each room for sun, breeze, and view; study closets, electric outlets; 'prepare' a meal in the kitchen."

A full page of symbols and their meanings is part of the article. The reader is shown the blueprint sign for doors, windows, stairs, various types of electrical outlets and different kinds of construction materials.

PMA Head Urges Consideration Of Govt. Grain Support Programs

With the price of most grains down to or below government support levels, R. B. Bridgforth, state chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration, this week urged Virginia farmers to consider the advantages of government price support programs before selling their crops at current market prices.

Mr. Bridgforth said that price supports will be effected through commodity loans and purchase agreements on 1949-crop wheat, oats, barley, and rye, available to producers from the time of harvest through January 31, 1950. Loans will be made on farm or warehouse stored grain and will mature on April 30, 1950, or earlier on demand. Farmers who do not need the ready cash may be guaranteed price support by signing a purchase agreement. Under the purchase agreement plan a farmer must declare his intentions of selling to the government during the month of April, 1950. Under either plan the farmer pays a small service fee.

The support price on all grain but wheat is based on a percentage of parity as of April 15, 1949, and the support prices are constant throughout Virginia. In the case of wheat an interim support rate, based on April 15, 1949, parity, is used pending determination of the final rate, based on June 15 parity, to be announced after July 1, 1949. The support price on wheat in Virginia varies slightly by counties. Eligibility requirements for the various grains and the basic support rates, subject to certain discounts or premiums for grade variations, follow:

To be eligible for loan, or for purchase under purchase agreement, wheat must grade U. S. No. 3, or better, or grade No. 4 or 5 solely on the factor of test weight, but otherwise grade No. 3. The basic 1949 interim loan rate for wheat grading U. S. No. 1 in Virginia varies by counties from $2.11 to $2.21 per bushel. The interim rate in Princess Anne County is $2.14. The final rate for wheat will be determined at 90 per cent of the June 15 parity.

Under the support program oats must grade U. S. No. 3 or better. The loan rate for No. 3 oats, figured at 70 per cent of parity, is 79 cents a bushel.

Barley, to be eligible, must grade U. S. No. 5 or better. The 1949 loan rate for barley grading U. S. No. 1 is $1.24 per bushel, which is 72 per cent of parity. Terminal market loan rate on barley of No.

1 grade is $1.43 at Baltimore.

Rye must grade U. S. No. 2, or better, or grade No. 3 solely on the factor of test weight, but otherwise meet No. 2 grade. The support price on No. 2 rye is $1.42 per bushel, which reflects 72 per cent of parity. The terminal market loan rate on rye grading No. 2, or better, is $1.61 at Baltimore.

With the current movement of grain to market, Mr. Bridgforth noted that many inquiries, especially on barley and wheat support, had reached his office, in Richmond. Both the loan and purchase agreement programs are administered by the state office of the Production and Marketing Administration through the office of the local County Agricultural Conservation Association. Interested grain producers may get further information on any of the government grain support programs from either source.

Vail Wins Sail Race As Tricky Wind Upsets Many

Yachting Association Recognizes Regatta For First Time

A stiff breeze sent sailboats scotching around the tricky Cavalier Yacht Club course on Linkhorn Bay Sunday as skippers of Hampton One and Moth boats competed for the Cavalier Challenge Cup. A large crowd gathered on the banks around the club and watched one of the most exciting sailboat races ever to be held here.

Dink Vail, brother of Jack Vail and last year's winner, set a fast pace to win the Challenge Cup and keep the trophy in the family. It was Dink's second straight win of the year, having captured first place in the Maury regatta two weeks ago. Second place honors went to W. F. Holloway.

Tricky winds whipping through trees and out of inlets upset several boats as they attempted to maneuver around buoys. Yachts posted along the course quickly took the disappointed sailors in tow. The race was considerably faster and more exciting than last year's regatta when the boats, dressed in the white of a wedding, appeared to be moving in a funeral procession.

Roscoe Stevenson, former International Moth champion, from the Pasquotank River Yacht Club, Elizabeth City, N. C., out-classed his opponents to win in the small single sail Moth division. He was followed by Happy Hogshire of the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club.

The race for the first time was sanctioned by the Chesapeake Bay Yacht Racing Association. It will be an annual stop for Tidewater sailors. Because of increased support for the Moths, they were added to this year's race. Snipes were also added; however, Ruth Harrell was the only entry.

Trophies were presented to the first, second and third place winners in each division by P. F. Murray, Commodore of the Cavalier Yacht Club.

'Bop City' Featuring Two College Bands

"Bop City," the fourth dance club to be done entirely over, opened Wednesday at Seaside Park. Two college bands, the Dukes of Duke University, and the Melodiers of the University of Virginia, will furnish music nightly.

The new dance hall is designed exclusively for collegians. The bands will play alternately and together from one bandstand, and will play music other than "bop" upon request, according to a Seaside Park spokesman.

American Legion Wins First Round In Softball

Sixteen Clubs Enter Tournament June 29 At Playground

The American Legion Softball team captured two games from the Lions Club in the first play-offs to gain a position in the Beach tournament at the end of the season. The American Legion Club won the games 10 to 2 and 9 to 3.

There will be five play-offs during the season. The winners will meet in a tournament at the end of the summer months.

Thirty-first Street Merchants and the American Legion eked out decisions over Fuel and Feed and Oceana Monday night in the first games of the second round.

The six team league plays at the Virginia Beach Playground at 20th and Pacific Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

The Playground will sponsor the Invitational Tournament June 29. Sixteen teams, from South Norfolk, Norfolk, Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, will compete. The winner will receive a trophy. The Beach will enter three teams.

Softball Schedule for Week

Read Brother; And Take Heed—Bathers Beware

Dusty Hinnant, captain of the Beach Patrol, warned bathers again today to stay in close to shore and not to go beyond the sandbar. Life guards stationed along the beach said that many bathers who ride life rafts drift unknowingly out into deep water and into swift currents off shore and beyond their reach. As a consequence the Coast Guard has it called to bring the rafts ashore. Take heed!

Although very few have tempted fate this year, Mr. Hinnant said he hoped that the Beach would be able to maintain the excellent safety record it has shown in previous years. Some 35 life guards are stationed along the beach to provide bathers with beach equipment and to protect them. They have been instructed to stay on their stands except when issuing equipment.

Keeping the beach clean is about the only real headache that the guards have had this season, particularly in front of the beach clubs and in the vicinity of 20th Street, Mr. Hinnant said. The Town Council has decreed it unlawful to take bottles, bags, bones, etc., on the beach, but human nature being what it is—there is still that cleaning up to be done. So far no children have been reported lost.

Take heed! Along with the usual amount of beach equipment purchased by the concessionaires, portable dust-out canabans have been placed in front of the Cavalier Beach Club.

Musical Review To Open Soon At Roland Theatre

A new musical—shall we say—review show is scheduled to open this month (about the 24th) in the rejuvenated Roland Theatre on 17th Street.

Despite the fact that it will be the only show of its kind on the Beach, it will face plenty of unintentional competition—namely, beachites. Ned Crane, producer and operator of the show, entitled Continental Follies, says it will feature some 20 three-minute acts which will blend and overlap. The entire show will be fast and intimate, he said. "It will not be educational," Mr. Crane added.

The review is tentative set to open June 24. An orchestra pit has been built for a five-piece band. Names of the entertainers have not been announced. However, he said that some 14 people will be in the cast.

The Roland Theatre, originally a movie house, was the first theatre to be built here. Mr. Crane does not plan to change the name. It will seat an estimated 440 people.

Of 35,700 beneficial suggestions submitted by Navy civilian employees in 1948 almost 11,000 were adopted.

Coast Guard Gets New 'Quack' for Old DUWK 4113

DUWK 4113 or just "The Duck" is gone. It has been surveyed, according to W. B. Wroton, Chief Boatswain and officer in charge of the Coast Guard Station at 24th Street. "The Duck," an all aluminum top job and built for experimental purposes, had become a common sight to Beachites. It was Virginia Beach's sea-going ambulance.

However, another experimental "Duck" has already been obtained to take its place. The new "Duck" has an all aluminum hull. Chief Wroton said that the top from DUWK 4113 will be transferred to the new one.

The new "Duck" will be used to rescue bathers too far offshore for the Beach Patrol to reach and to rescue seamen from foundering auxiliary craft.

In addition to the new experimental "Duck" an older model is on stand-by call. The new "Duck" will be able to go through 20-ft. surf and has a cruising range of about 20 miles.

Take it easy on the Fourth—Be alive on the Fifth!

Nelson Broach Wins Payton Event With 140 Strokes

Nelson Broach, former city amateur champion of Richmond, captured the second annual Payton Memorial Golf Tournament yesterday with a total of 146 six strokes under his nearest rival Horace Baskette, of Norfolk, who finished with a 147. J. R. Hall of Norfolk, who last year's tournament with a total of 147 strokes, with Broach in the runner-up spot.

Sixty-four young golf hopefuls teed off Wednesday morning in the initial round of the second annual George Payton Memorial Tournament over the par 69 Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course.

A blistering sun and a steady wind greeted the amateurs as they stepped up to the first tee. The course by 12 o'clock, and by 10 the starting groups were arriving at the ninth tee, complaining somewhat about the wind and their putters.

The young golfers played 18 holes Wednesday and Thursday, competing for honor as well as the cup and championship. Listed among participants were some of the outstanding golfers in the state, many of whom have competed against the state's best in tournament play for a number of years. Nelson Broach, former Richmond city champion and one of the most promising young golfers, was a late and unexpected entry. Broach, who finished second with a 148 in last year's tournament here, had said that he would pass up this tournament to play in the State Open later in the week at Ocean View; however he reversed his decision.

The event was established in memory of George Payton, Tidewater professional, who was killed two years ago in an automobile accident near Chicago. He was 34 years old at the time of his death, and amateurs entered in the tournament can not be over that age.

It was over the Cavalier course that Payton, who had shown real promise as a playing pro, won his last State Open championship before his death.

Down the Line with Johnny Bell

She's only one of twelve

Did you know there are one dozen different kinds of telephone operators serving the people of this state?

Even for those customers with dial service, there's a Long Distance operator nearby to put through out-of-town calls, an "Information" operator to supply telephone numbers not yet listed in the directory. The newest type of operator works at the mobile radio-telephone switchboard, completing calls to and from automobiles and trucks equipped for this kind of service.

Almost everywhere you go, you'll find the "voice with a smile" on the job, providing the friendly, helpful service which has earned her a proud place on the American scene.

Two bells that say, "Come and get it!"

Remember the familiar sound of the old dinner-gong? One ring was usually enough to bring the youngsters "a-running."

The telephone bell is another bell that says, "Come and get it." So, when you're sure it's your ring, please answer as promptly as you can. It might be a call you wouldn't want to miss.

Your markets are "right next door" — by Long Distance

Want to compare market prices before you sell your farm produce? Or locate some repair parts for your machinery? The quickest way is to call Long Distance.

Long Distance service is convenient and economical. Most calls go through while you hold the line. See the inside front cover of your telephone directory for some typical Long Distance rates.

Bass Season Opens June 20 Statewide

Restocked Waters Should Provide Excellent Fishing

Next Monday, June 20, the long awaited bass season opens once more in Virginia. After being closed since December 31 west of the Blue Ridge and since March 15 east of the Blue Ridge, anglers will be permitted to take bass as well as other game fish throughout the state next Monday. The trout season has already been open since April 20 and fishing for other game fish has had no closed season, with minor exceptions.

According to I. T. Quinn, executive director of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, good fishing should greet Virginia anglers if present water and weather conditions hold out. The commission, Mr. Quinn said, has gone all out to restock its public waters with game fish. This past year some 125,000 large-sized bass (smallmouth and largemouth) have been stocked in the lakes, ponds and streams of 40 some odd counties in the state. In addition many rock bass, crappie, bream and sunfish have been released in various public waters where the supply has been depleted. For information as to public waters stocked, Mr. Quinn said, anglers should refer to the July issue of "Virginia Wildlife" magazine, which carries a complete list of streams and ponds and their locations stocked by the game commission.

Game officials point out that the law specifies that fishing in the inland waters of the state shall be by angling with natural bait or by artificial lures and a hook and line attached to a rod or pole, either with or without reel, or by tight-line. Everyone 14 years of age and over is required to have a fishing license. The county resident license to hunt and fish is $1.00 while the state resident license to fish sells for $3.00. The non-resident license to fish only is $10.00.

License is not required of landowners and their husbands or wives or their children, resident or non-resident, to fish within the

The association is concerned with research and education in the field of psychical research. Its work is based on the records of Edgar Cayce, subject of Sugrue's well known book "There Is A River," now in its seventh printing.

Mr. Sugrue, who has just returned from a six months visit to Israel, will speak at the Community House at 8:15 p.m. Monday, June 20, on "Israel, the Rebirth of a People." There will be an admission charge and tickets may be secured at the door.

The meetings of members and friends of the association will continue through the week with classes, discussion groups and evening lectures open to the public. Information may be secured at the Headquarters, 320 Arctic Circle, phone 954.

Other evening lectures will be held Tuesday through Friday at the Newcastle Hotel at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday evening, June 21, Julius Chandler, playwright, author, lecturer and radio commentator, will speak at the Newcastle Hotel at 8:15 p.m. Her subject will be "Man and His Possibilities." Mrs. Chandler is best known for her syndicated column "Folk We Touch in Passing," her Cosmopolitan Magazine articles, Broadway play, and her 3 years' Empire State Tower daily broadcasts sponsored by Al Smith.

She is also the author and producer of fifty-two radio scripts in behalf of free enterprise, broadcast in 1942, over a western chain.

Mrs. Chandler's metaphysical studies brought her in touch with the Edgar Cayce work in 1937, and she has been active as a Regional Representative and Trustee since that time.

Thursday evening, Eleanor Strother Cooley, of New York, will speak on "The Drama of the Zodiac." Mrs. Cooley, wife of Carlton Cooley, first violinist with the N. B. C. Symphony under Arturo Toscanini, was born and educated in England. For seven years she was with the Board of Education in the Medical Inspection of Schools in Cleveland, Ohio. She became interested in the study of astrology in 1933 and for some time was a member of the Board of the Astrologer's Guild in New York and chairman of the Editorial Committee for three years.

She has made exact, critical comparative studies of the Edgar Cayce records with individual astrological charts.

DANGER IN THE SUN

Can you tell sunstrokes from heat exhaustion?

Both are dangerous, the National Safety Council says. Heat exhaustion leaves the victim's skin cold and clammy, while sunstroke results in a hot, dry skin.

A general rule for treatment: Keep the cool patient warm, and the hot patient cool.

Veterans Who Have Held GI Life Insurance Policies May Get Cash "Dividend" Next January

Average Amount About $175 for Each Policy, Says VA Chief

Princess Anne World War II veterans who took out GI life insurance policies will begin getting cash refunds next January, according to an announcement by the Veterans Administration Chief Carl R. Gray, Jr.

According to the announcement the "dividends" will average about $175 each, although it was added that calculations have not yet been completed. The payments would go to each ex-service man who took out GI insurance, or to his heirs.

Described as a "dividend," the money to be repaid is from two sources:

1. An $8 billion surplus which developed from the fact that GI insurance premiums were based on a mortality table that turned out to be higher than needed, and
2. Earnings from the surplus.

Nationally, about 16,000,000 veterans will benefit from the payments. Government officials predict that not only will the veterans receive a needed "nest egg" but that business will get a healthy boost when the GIs get to spending the money.

Veterans Administration officials say that the checks will begin going out about January 1, 1950. In general, every veteran who took out national service insurance and kept it in force for at least three months will be eligible, provided that the policies were not issued after January 1, 1948. In cases where the veteran has died, his heirs or beneficiary will receive the refund. Payments will vary with the size of the policy and the amount of time it has been in force.

Two JWC Members Installed as Sixth District Officers

Two members of the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County were installed as officers of the Sixth District of the Woman's Club Federation of Virginia in ceremony last week. They are Miss Anna Gordon Barrett, who was made vice president of the district, and Mrs. B. F. Barco, bulletin chairman.

Attending the workshop meeting at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club where the installations took place were Mrs. J. Goodenow Tyler, president of the local club, Mrs. L. O. Clark, Jr., Mrs. J. Walter Wolcott, Mrs. W. A. Smith, Jr., Mrs. W. J. Dickens, Jr., Mrs. Barco and Miss Barrett.

Members who have finished the training, which took place at the Virginia Beach Hospital, are Miss Esther Joyner, Miss Alice Perebee, Mrs. Nellie Parker Jones, Mrs. Carol Rietelbach, Mrs. Virginia McCannan, Mrs. Josephine Dixon, Mrs. Elda Cobb, Mrs. Hazel Gallup, and Mrs. Mary Dye.

Nine County 4-H Members to Attend State Short Course

"Better Living for A Better World" Is Theme of Course

Princess Anne County will send nine 4-H club members to attend the 4-H Club Short Course, beginning June 27, at Blacksburg. The nine will be accompanied by Mrs. Louise Lee, leader, and Jack Brothers, assistant farm agent.

Attending the course will be Nancy Bonney, Walton Brunley, Margaret Fentress, Johnny McCleod, Shirley Humphries, Barbara Parron, Betty Salmons, Hunter Spence, and Ernestine Wright. Dr. M'Leade Moffett, dean of women, Radford College, will give the keynote lectures, under the general theme, "Better Living for A Better World," when an expected 800 4-H club members and leaders meet for the annual State Short Course at V. P. I., June 27-July 2.

The lectures, to be given each morning, from Tuesday, June 28, through July 1, will be followed by discussion periods led by Laurence Taylor, consultant, adult education department, Michigan State College.

Special classes in game and song leading, and in agricultural and home economics projects will be given throughout the week. Livestock, dairy and poultry judging also will be featured.

Miss Ada Marshall, New York, stylist for the Simplicity Pattern Company, and a former 4-H style revue winner, will conduct classes and demonstrations on personality, grooming and wardrobe.

Mrs. Anne Livingston, also of New York, National Recreation Association, will teach classes in recreation.

Officers who will preside at the short course are Billy Wampler of Rockingham, president; Blair Keller, Jr., of Washington County, second vice president; and Patsy Ann Norwood, of Halifax, secretary.

Four 4-H club leaders will hold concurrent sessions. Officers to preside are H. T. Acker, Sr., of Rockingham, president; Mrs. Raymond York, of Roanoke, vice president; Miss Eselle Bonham, of Smyth, second vice president; and Mrs. S. E. Porter, of Southampton, secretary.

Highlight of the event will be the candlelighting ceremony Friday night, when new members of the 4-H honorary organization the All-Stars, will be tapped. Each county can recommend one boy and one girl for the honor.

Vessel Battered To Pieces by Surf Off Beach Sunday

Coast Guard Unable To Save 50-Ft. Yawl Out of Hopewell

The yawl Isis, out of Hopewell, was blown aground on a sandbar some 200 yards off shore last Sunday and was reduced to broken wreckage by a pounding surf before it could be pulled to safety by the Coast Guard cutter that was summoned to the scene.

Despite efforts of the Coast Guard to pull the vessel into deep water and the efforts of two amphibious ducks from the Virginia Beach Coast Guard station the keel could not be released from the sandbar.

Manned by five Hopewell and Farmville youths, the 50-foot Isis had been anchored out about 250 yards during the day while her crew came ashore in a tender.

The crew returned later in the day and made ready to weigh anchor and continue a meandering cruise of Virginia waters which began at Hopewell. However, before they could get underway an easterly wind and waves four to five feet high quickly sent the yawl onto the bar.

While Beach Coast Guardsmen attempted to save the vessel, crewmen pitched what belongings that would float into the sea. The amphibious trucks were unable to get close enough to take the men off the vessel and they were forced to swim ashore.

According to a report from J. T. Spratley, of Hopewell, and part owner of the boat, the Coast Guard cutter Marion appeared on the scene at midnight. At that time the Isis was still more or less upright.

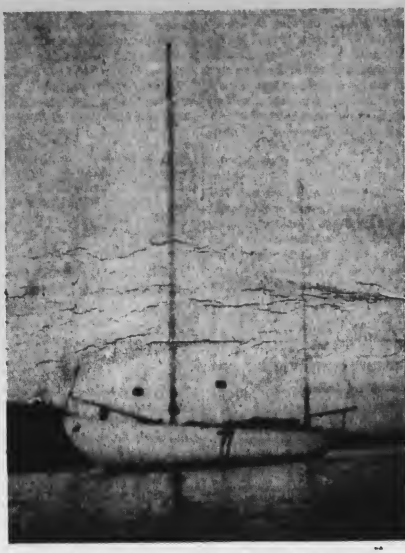

However, when the cutter put a strain on the bridle fashioned by the two "ducks," the yawl fell beam-to in the water and began to ship water. A few hours later the Isis floated to pieces.

The vessel was built in South Boston, Mass., in 1896, as a racing yacht. Sailing under different names and owners through the years, she was bought four years ago by T. W. Ford, J. W. Enoch Jr., and Spratley, all of Hopewell. Spratley was the only owner aboard at the time of the accident.

With young Spratley were his brother, Robert, Sidney Carter and Franklin Brooks, of Hopewell, and Tommy Beckham, of Farmville.

W. RUSSELL HATCHETT RECOVERING FROM BACK INJURY

W. Russell Hatchett is recuperating from a serious back injury suffered three weeks ago. A prominent member of civic and club circles, Mr. Hatchett is Commissioner of Revenue of Princess Anne County.

DESTROYED—Pounding surf destroyed the Yawl Isis after it ran aground on a sandbar 200 yards off the Beach Sunday afternoon. The five youths who manned the 53-year-old Isis swam ashore safely, but the Isis herself was broken up and lost. Bits of wreckage strewn from 24th Street, where the wreck occurred, to 80th Street are all that remain of the once proud vessel.

No Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever Cases in County Since 1943 Says P. A. Health Officer

P. A. County Would Receive $1 Million Under Arnold Plan

Candidate, If Elected Governor, Would Release Surplus

Princess Anne County would receive nearly $1,000,000 of State surplus funds for this biennium, under a plan proposed by Remmie L. Arnold, candidate for Governor. The proposal, if Arnold were elected, would return an estimated $30,000,000 surplus to the localities to finance school improvements. The Second Congressional District would receive approximately $3,702,921.60.

On the basis of population, the surplus money would be distributed as follows:

Princess Anne County, $108,600; Norfolk City, $1,616,000; South Norfolk City, $90,000; Portsmouth, $568,000; Suffolk, $127,000; Isle of Wight, $149,800; Nansemond, $255,000; Southampton, $206,000; and Norfolk, $401,000.

The new Arnold plan was made known on an eleven-station radio hook-up last Friday night. Holding that the money actually belongs to the localities, Arnold stated he would appear before the State legislative body immediately after it convenes next January and make his recommendation.

The Petersburg manufacturer asserted that the surplus had come from the underestimating of the State's current budget revenues at the rate of about $15,000,000 per year. This was due to the imposition of heavy taxes at the last meeting of the General Assembly, he said.

"I know there is a general need for these funds in solving your needs for the immediate present, and, if the General Assembly would pass on it the first of January, the money could be released once to all the localities to help solve their problems."

Mr. Arnold has contended that additional taxes of any type are unnecessary and reasserted his opposition to the sales tax in particular.

Hotel Association Sponsoring Courtesy Parking Sticker

The Hotel Association is sponsoring a "courtesy parking sticker" for their guests which will permit them to park their automobiles without the usual five-cent meter fee.

The stickers will be good only on the east side of Atlantic Avenue, and in loading zones on the east side.

Approximately three-by-three inches in size, the stickers will have a blank space for the name of the hotel issuing them, and a space for the date of issuance. The text on the sticker reads "This is a Courtesy Parking Sticker. We Are Glad to Have You With Us." In larger type, the text is followed by "Virginia Beach, Virginia."

Jaycees Plan Bicycle Safety Campaign For Youngsters

A bicycle safety campaign, aimed at the young bike rider, will be the next project sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to a Jaycee spokesman.

The campaign, which will get underway late in the season, will have several angles—the teaching of safety rules for riding, the importance of abiding by rules of the road, and mechanical devices to insure that the bike rider is protected from mishap.

Statement Made Following "Scare" Story in Richmond

An Associated Press dispatch, originating in Richmond, has caused Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County residents needless worry, according to Dr. William Y. Garrett, county health officer.

The dispatch which appeared in Tuesday's Richmond paper and was picked up on the wire service, declared that "The Richmond Health Department said yesterday that one of three Rocky Mountain spotted fever cases reported in Richmond was traced to a bite by a tick at Virginia Beach. . . . The story was headlined 'Virginia Beach Held Source of City Tick Case.'"

Dr. Garrett said that "naturally it cannot be disproved that the person picked up an infected tick while visiting Virginia Beach," but that on going over the records of the Health Department for some years he had been unable to find a single case of tick fever at Virginia Beach. Moreover, he said, there has been none in Princess Anne County since 1943 when a scattered two or three cases were reported.

"There is little or no danger of getting the fever if proper precautions are taken," Dr. Garrett said. "I always tell mothers who live with their families where ticks are common to examine their children at least twice a day, and if they find ticks, to remove them at once with tweezers and destroy them. Don't squeeze them."

Dr. Garrett said that a vaccine has been developed to inoculate against Rocky Mountain fever, but that he did not recommend it in a community where there is no evidence that the ticks are infected.

Of the Richmond story, Dr. Garrett said that there is no way of proving that the offending tick did not come from Virginia Beach, but there is absolutely no cause for worry on the part of residents or visitors here.

Misses Brooks, Smith Open Shop at Oceana For Dress Designing

Miss Mary Elizabeth Brooks and Miss Joanne Smith have opened a shop at Cedar Pine, East Lane, Oceana, for dress designing.

The two young women, who have just completed a course in dress designing at Richmond Professional Institute, plan to furnish original designs to customers desiring them. To insure perfect fit, they said that the design will first be cut and sewn in muslin. In addition to original design, Misses Brooks and Smith will do copies from fashion magazines, work from commercial patterns and remodeling, according to the wishes of their customers.

The two expect to attend style shows during the year in order to keep up to the minute in the material and dress designing of the moment.

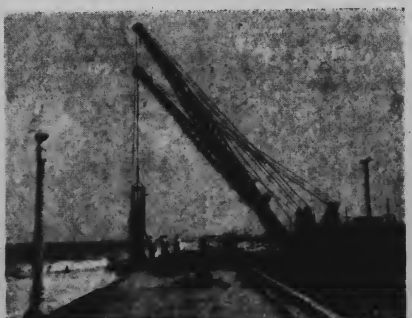

Miss Brooks is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Brooks, of Oceana.

Cadet Johnson Has Outstanding Record

During the past school year, Cadet Johnson did not receive a single demerit while attending the military prep school. He is one of only six cadets in the Park Union corps who were not penalized in any way. All cadets at Park Union Military Academy receive standard ROTC training.

BEACH CONSTRUCTION GETS UNDERWAY

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS—Repairs to the sea wall and the addition to the Willoughby T. Cooke School, major construction projects at Virginia Beach, got underway last week. The reconstruction of the boardwalk, at a cost of $190,000, is starting at the south end where the structure was most seriously weakened.

The project will extend to 17th Street with major repairs, although the entire length of the boardwalk will be put in first-class condition. The school addition encompasses four new classrooms, enlargement of the lunchroom, and new lavatory facilities. It is to be completed by September 1, 1949. —Photos by Balce.

MANNERLY MOTORISTS

To the desk of the News there comes regularly a news letter, National Industries News Service, which contains much information on a variety of subjects. This week there appeared an article that struck us being the type of thing you would want us to pass along to you. It is entitled "More Manners for Motorists," and follows:

Miss Emily Post—whose capable pen is usually devoted to caution and advice on deportment in the ballroom or at the banquet table—recently wrote an important book in another field in which more good manners should be employed. It is directed toward automobile drivers.

Miss Post takes up the subject of highway courtesy in a brief little booklet titled "Motor Manners." It was compiled with some technical aid from the National Highway Users Conference, which later undertook production and distribution of the work.

Observance of her code, it seems to us, on the part of all drivers, would save thousands of lives on America's highways each year, and millions of dollars in costs of hospitalization, loss of work time and property damage. That's why we class it as more important than hints on proper conduct at the table or on the dance floor.

Miss Post concludes her brief outline of road manners with "code of courtesy," as follows:

1. A well-mannered driver will share the road, never usurping the right-of-way from other vehicles or pedestrians.
2. A well-behaved driver uses his horn as a warning device in emergencies and never as a bad-tempered voice to threaten or scold.
3. An honorable man or woman would not more cheat traffic regulations than cheat at games or in sports.
4. Courteous pedestrians will cross busy streets at intersections, respect traffic lights and avoid darting out from behind parked vehicles.
5. An obliging driver will never fail to dim his lights when meeting other cars in the dark.
6. Well-bred people, whether drivers or passengers, are just as considerate of each other as are hosts and guests in a drawing room.
7. An accommodating driver parks his car so as not to interfere with the use of other parking spaces or with the movement of other vehicles.
8. Orderly drivers always keep to the right, except when using the proper lane for turning or passing.
9. A courteous driver never fails to signal his intentions to stop, turn or pull out.
10. Considerate persons always drive at speeds which are reasonable and prudent, considering traffic, road and weather conditions.
11. One who has any consideration for the safety of others will refrain from driving when physically exhausted.
12. Kindly persons never show curiosity at the scene of an accident and always give any assistance that may be possible.

Albert Bradley, chairman of the National Highway Users Conference, and by nature of his post as executive vice president of General Motors and aware of the importance of the highway safety problem, says:

"Millions of motor vehicles drivers and pedestrians will be grateful to Emily Post when they appreciate that greater courtesy will make driving and walking safer, more convenient and pleasant."

—AND MANNERLY MOSTS

The letter to the Editor in this week's News points up a problem that we believe everyone with a stake in Virginia Beach and its future should think about. The resolution offered in the letter is so good, and would mean so much to every citizen of the Beach, that we repeat it here: "The prosperity of Virginia Beach is my business. I solemnly resolve to treat with utmost courtesy and fairness every visitor I serve, to give value received for every dollar spent with me, and use my best efforts to see that no one leaves Virginia Beach dissatisfied."

If everyone meeting the public made and kept that resolve, it would be of untold value in our prosperity and continued popularity as a resort.

It would carry out the instructions of the Tourist Information School, which was sponsored jointly by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Virginia Department of Education, and held this year for the first time. That school offered courses to employees coming into contact with the public—courses of information the public wants and on how to deal courteously with the public. We believe that the information passed on to the employees taking the course will pay off in real dividends to the Beach. The only trouble is, not enough people this year took the training. We hope that we will see it continued year after year, until such a time comes that every person meeting the public at Virginia Beach will take it, whether he is employer or employee.

In the meantime, think over that resolution, and take it to heart. It is good advice for anyone.

The world's largest integrated textile mill is located in Danville, Virginia. It employs more workers than any other Virginia industry—more than 12,500.

More cigarettes are manufactured in Richmond, Virginia, than in any other place in the world. The Petersburg-Richmond area is the hub of the tobacco industry.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — JUNE 22, 1928

The Weekly reported back on June 22, 1928, that the County School Board and citizens of the county went before a special session of the County Board of Supervisors to demand that a bond election be held to decide whether bonds should be sold to reconstruct the Oceana High School, destroyed by fire June 8, 1928. The Board of Supervisors wanted to defer action, but long debate brought them to a resolution asking that the referendum be held. Amount of the bonds would be $100,000.

Dr. A. D. Parker Dies Monday at Norfolk Hospital

Dr. Arthur Douglas Parker, son of Mrs. W. G. Parker, of Virginia Beach, died Monday at a Norfolk hospital after a heart attack. He was a resident of Norfolk, where he served as clinician of the Norfolk Venereal Disease Clinic. He had suffered a heart attack during the latter part of May, but after hospitalization he was thought to have been recovered until he was stricken again Friday.

He was born in Portsmouth, 53 years ago. He entered the College of William and Mary in the Fall of 1914, and received his medical education at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, where he graduated in the class of 1921 with a degree of doctor of medicine.

He returned to Norfolk in 1924, after serving his internship in New York Hospitals and as instructor of clinical medicine. He served as an associate attending physician at Norfolk General Hospital and as chief of medical services at Norfolk Memorial Hospital and at t. Vincent's Hospital.

He entered the Naval Reserve in 1935 as a commander in medical services, and was called to active duty in June 1940. He was retired with the rank of captain.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his wife, the former Miss Emily Love, of Washington; a son, William George Parker; four brothers, William L. Parker, Norfolk attorney; Michael M. and H. Gray Parker, of Virginia Beach; and Comdr. Roy Parker, Dental Corps, USN, of Camp Lejeune, N. C.; and a sister, Mrs. John Tyler, of Annapolis, Md.

Another brother, H. G. Parker, Norfolk City Director of Public Welfare, died March 29.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery. Rosary services were conducted at the residence Monday.

Letters to Editor

To the Editor:

I never have been particularly enthusiastic about resolutions of a negative nature. They leave me cold! They seem to lack force; but at this time when Virginia Beach is making a serious bid for the tourist business, a resolution occurs to me which has teeth in it, one which could, if taken seriously, have a most beneficial effect on the prosperity of Virginia Beach.

To my mind it requires little imagination to envision the outcome if every hotel operator, hotel clerk, merchant, store clerk, filling station operator, policeman, taxi driver, restaurant operator, waiter in fact, every person on Virginia Beach coming in contact with the tourist, would say to himself:

"The prosperity of Virginia Beach is my business. I solemnly resolve to treat with utmost courtesy and fairness every visitor I serve, to give value received for every dollar spent with me and use my best efforts to see that no one leaves Virginia Beach dissatisfied."

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

SAYS LANKY PLANKY

YES, IT'S THE RIGHT STEP... TO BUILD A HOME OF YOUR OWN AND PLAN IT WITH THE HELP OF A REPUTABLE LUMBER DEALER.

The Best Way to Provide for Your Family's Future

When you build a home of your own you provide shelter and a good life for your family now, and in the future. As you pay for it, month by month, you are building a solid financial foundation for yourself. No matter what uncertainties the future holds, as long as your home stands you and your family have shelter, security and stability.

How Much Does It Cost?

Actually all your new home will cost you is the down payment, your monthly payments are both rent and savings. If you are renting, don't wait, for even if property values declined in five or six years, you would be ahead—you'd still have a home, not just a pile of rent receipts. Moreover, with postwar shortages of material and labor over, the quality of today's homes is better than it has been in years.

How to Go About Building

Consult the competent staff of our Home Planning Department. They are best prepared to assist with planning, financing and contractor selection to see that you receive the very utmost for your building dollar.

Gardeners Warned 'Sociable' Japanese Beetles Dangerous

Heavy Potato Marketings Are Expected in State

A peak movement of potatoes from 30,400 Virginia acres is expected after July 4, with fairly heavy marketings during June, July, and August, says Dr. J. L. Maxton, marketing specialist at V. P. I.

Growers again will be selling in competition with the western potato crop, but this year they have several points in their favor, Dr. Maxton says. Virginia's commercial potato crop will be sold under a marketing agreement; several million bushels of Virginia potatoes will be washed this year to better compete with California potatoes; and a recent increase in rail freight rates will cut down some competition from the West.

"In 1947 and 1948 we lost these eastern markets to the western growers, necessitating heavy purchases by the government for rice support purposes. Our growers and the potato industry know this situation cannot continue," Dr. Maxton said.

The specialist gave these dates and places for expected marketings:

June 5 to 25, Plantation; June 10 to 30, Bay View; June 15 to July 9, Eastside; June 15 to July 23, Emme; June 5 to July 15, Pines; Pentress, Churchland and Suffolk; June 15 to July 20, Toano and Velford; June 20 to August 1, Onley and Accomac; and June 25 to August 10, Parkaley.

If you see a single, solitary Japanese beetle in your garden better swat him or drench his wretched carcass with an insecticide immediately.

This is the advice of G. T. French, State entomologist, who reports that the voracious beetle is a very sociable individual. Just let one pop into the garden for a brief visit and in no time at all a whole host of his friends and relatives will drop in for a long visit to feed on your vegetables.

"Japanese beetles are very sociable and they like to have their friends and relatives call on them," Mr. French explained. "They love to make merry at your expense."

While not exactly describing the beetle as a "playboy," he did say that the insect pest loves to have company while feeding on vegetation.

Rains last week softened the ground enough to permit the Japanese beetles to emerge from their winter homes, Mr. French said. During the previous three weeks, the ground, hardened by a dry spell, made it difficult for the beetles to leave their homes, he explained.

Currently the area is suffering from an invasion of the beetle which is attacking everything eatable in the line of greens.

Mr. French is advising frantic householders to get busy with their spray guns. He says the best results can be obtained by using a DDT solution, composed of about two full tablespoons of wettable DDT to one gallon of water.

Vegetation should be sprayed before the insects are discovered in order to discourage their visits he said.

Continued spraying year after year will kill off and discourage the beetle, he pointed out.

When you take a chance in traffic, someone else might have to take the consequences, the National Safety Council warns.

Stop, look and listen again before the crossing, don't stop crossing accidents, the National Safety Council advises. Slow up dead at it. If the train gives a hoot for your life, so should you.

Who'll be First with the Last Word?

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

ACT QUICKLY—and in your neighborhood it might be you.

For there's no doubt that this exciting new Riviera model—styled and executed by Buick—is the very last word in new body types.

It has, as you see, the swift and racy lines of a Convertible, made even more distinctive by a bold new sweep of chromium along its fenders.

But the top is solid—a single sheet of stout steel, neatly finished off inside with chromium bows. And a broad rear window curves gracefully around, giving really abundant rearward vision.

Push-button controls drop all windows out of sight at a touch, leaving not even a doorpost to block your outlook. And the interior trim is the richest yet—a really stunning creation inside as well as out.

As pictured here the Riviera is now in production on the Buick ROADMASTER chassis—which means 150-hp Fireball power, the silken luxury of Dynaflow Drive, and the matchless levelness of the Buick "dream ride." That means "the last word" in brilliant performance as well as in luxurious dress and styling.

Production on this high-styled road star is limited, as you might expect.

To be "first with the last word," therefore, it is wise to see your Buick dealer soon about getting your order in.

Kathleen Virginia Mallory Weds Donald Malcolm Loudermilk In Ceremony at Methodist Church

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Virginia Mallory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood C. Mallory, to Donald Malcolm Loudermilk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Loudermilk, of Huntington, W. Va., was solemnized Saturday, June 18, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the Virginia Beach Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Byron M. Wilkinson, of Richmond, Virginia, in a setting of palms, ferns, arrangement of white gladioli and snap dragons, and cathedral candles. Miss Earline Armentrout played "Liebestraum" and "Clair de Lune" before the ceremony, and Mrs. H. F. Shirey sang "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white Duchess satin, fashioned with mousseline de sole neckline and a bertha of Belgian lace. The long sleeves formed points over the hands and the bodice had a butterfly bustle that extended to a long formal train. Her finger tip veil of French illusion was edged with a floral design of Belgian lace and fell from a lace tiera embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid. Her ornaments were a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and an heirloom pin of gold which belonged to her great-grandmother.

Mrs. William James Rannels, of Milton, Florida, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of lavender marquisette over taffeta, fashioned with mousseline de sole neckline and a bertha which formed the off-shoulder effect. Narrow tiers of ruffles fell from the bodice and formed a skirt, very full skirt. The bridesmaids were Miss Wilda Boyd Whitman, of Portsmouth, Va., and Misses Barbara Ann Booker, Betty Norman Etheridge, and Betty Marie Ward, all of Virginia Beach. They wore gowns of mint green marquisette over taffeta fashioned like that of the honor attendant. All the attendants carried bouquets of tinted daisies, with arrangements of the same flowers in their hair, and all wore long mitts which matched their gowns. Miss Patricia Louise Mallory, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a gown of blush pink organza, fashioned like those of the other attendants. She carried a miniature bouquet of mixed flowers and wore a floral arrangement in her hair. Little Miss Brenda Alyce Mallory, sister of the bride, and Miss Martha Small, were flower girls. They wore gowns of canary yellow organza and carried small baskets of rose petals. All attendants wore strands of pearls, gifts of the bride. Master Stuart Carlisle Mallory, Jr., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. Mrs. C. H. Neils was mistress of ceremonies.

The bridegroom had as his best man Robert Klein, of Huntington, W. Va. The groomsmen were William Frampton, John S. Loudermilk, brother of the groom, both of Huntington; Glen L. Campbell, cousin of the groom, of Richmond; and Loyd G. Loudermilk, brother of the groom, of Washington, D. C.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon gown of dusty rose chiffon crepe with white hat and accessories, and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore an afternoon gown of Navy blue faille with white hat and accessories, and a corsage of orchids.

Mealtime Magic

They'll sing your praises loud and long when you serve veal in this unusual and palate-pleasing fashion. Not only does it taste good, but it looks good, too. Try this soon.

Veal Roll
shoulder of veal salt, pepper
1 bunch watercress
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 onion, finely minced
dash red pepper
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
1 qt. boiling water
1 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon pickling spices
1 teaspoon salt
2 tbs. fortified margarine
1/2 cup bread crumbs

Have bones removed from meat at market (but be sure to carry them home). Spread meat open and flat. Season with salt and pepper. Chop watercress rather fine. Add minced parsley, onion, red pepper, celery salt. Spread this filling over the cut side of the meat. Roll (like a jelly roll), folding in the "flying" ends of meat. Tie into firm roll. Cover with boiling water; add vinegar, salt, pickling spices, meat bones. Simmer, covered, 2 hours. Remove meat roll from water. Place in baking pan. Spread meat with the margarine, cover with the bread crumbs and season with salt and pepper. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 45 minutes, until crumbs are browned. Remove strings before serving. Serve hot or cold. Water in which meat was cooked may be used for a sauce to be served with hot meat, or, if meat is to be served cold, use as a base for the sauce.

American Legion Conducts Drive For Flag Display*Town, Chamber of Commerce Backing Undertaking

Flags will fly throughout Virginia Beach beginning next week in observance of the holiday marking Independence Day and each day through to Labor Day as a result of a drive conducted by Princess Anne Post No. 113 American Legion, and backed by the Town of Virginia Beach and the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce.

This announcement was made by Commander J. R. Flanagan, who has appointed a committee headed by W. G. Holland, past commander of the post.

The plan entails the installing of uniform flag sets in front of business establishments with each establishment paying for its own flag equipment and putting them up on every patriotic occasion during the year. The flag sets will be installed early in the week and the committee reports widespread cooperation. The flag sets are 12 ft. steel poles in two sections for easy storing and have a brass eagle at the top to which is attached a halyard with the American flag which can be lowered to half-staff on occasion of mourning.

C. J. Bounds, acting town manager during Mr. Lockwood's vacation, has issued an appeal hoping "that everyone will cooperate in this effort to correctly display the flag over the Fourth of July weekend and other similar patriotic dates."

Albin R. Mailhes, executive director, Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, issued a statement expressing the "whole-hearted endorsement of the plan."

American Airlines set a new all-time safety record for air travel when it completed 1948 with a total of 2,933,272,000 passenger-miles since its last fatal accident on December 28, 1946, the National Safety Council says.

Those eligible to attend the school's regular five-month course—given twice a year—are permanent lieutenant colonels and majors of the Air Force and a quota of Army, Navy, and Marine Corps officers.

The recently completed course included field trips to Ft. Benning, Ga., Greenville AF Base, S. C., Eglin AF Base, Fla., and the Naval Air Stations at Pensacola and Key West, Fla.

STUDEBAKERS REALLY ROLLING ... 54% IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

By J. J. Lee

When it rains at Virginia Beach hotel owners and business men cry like football coaches. Complaints and grievances flow like Niagara Falls. But Nature—indifferent Nature—so far has been decent this summer and the good American dollar has been shifting from one pocket to another.

The dollar problem is ticklish here. Roughly it goes like this: People will cry when business is poor—no one seems to be now—but its rare when one will let his tears drip into print. Its bad publicity, or psychology. One fellow tried it last summer and was swamped with rebukes. True or not, its bad—bad.

At any rate most hotels have kept well filled despite somewhat discouraging winds, according to a receipt spot check. Laundryman Lawrence Wall summed it up this way, "Who cares, as long as we are having fun."

Many of the old timers to the Beach began arriving during the week as did some of the many notables that slip into the Beach un-noticed. The Gay Manor reported last week that they were averaging as many as 10 honeymoon couples a day and most hotels have had at least one such couple a day.

"It's nice to have honeymooners here," a hotel clerk remarked. "Rain or shine they always have a smile—somewhat shy perhaps but smiling," observed the clerk.

It's early in the season and red bodies are predominant, but late or early, red noses will be popular throughout the season. Along the same line of thought, bathing suit manufacturers have finally discovered that straps on women's bathing suits interfere with the sun. Life guards—and yours truly—have observed that fewer of the suits have straps this year; although the old one-piece suit is becoming the fashion again.

Sweeping northerly winds have caused a sandstorm, some 75 yards offshore, to build up high enough for swimmers to stand on the bottom without the water being over their heads—rather unusual for the beach. The ocean calmed down Tuesday for the first time in two weeks. Nevertheless, the surf breaking over the bar and curling shoreward is one of the most thrilling sights here. Such a surf is splendid for surfboard riding and many enthusiasts took advantage of it.

Two beach clubs have changed hands since the past summer. The Hillcrest Club has been purchased by local men and established as a Shriners Club. The club will have an orchestra but will be open to Shriners and their guests only. The Carnival Club formerly the Marine Gardens at 15th Street and Atlantic Avenue has also been taken over by local men. The club, according to partner Eric Johnston, will be done over entirely. Redecoration is expected to be completed by July 1. Meanwhile the show will go on. James Dietz, owner and operator of the Latin Quarter, Inc., is going all out to present a complete and high class variety of entertainment. The Latin Quarter, Inc. formerly the Ocean Club is new this year.

The Top Hat, owned by a Norfolk man, is also new. The management says that talent will be imported weekly from New York.

Bop City, located at Seaside Park is new and unique in the way of dance halls. The music is loud, entertainment cheap and the holes in the wall make it difficult for them to be blown down.

In brief: Four clubs have changed hands and one has been added. All either have or are decorating extensively.

CURIOSITY NOTES: New to the Beach is a musical review show opening at the old Rolan Theatre on 17th Street at the end of the month. Another new never-written about, seldom heard-about club is nearing completion. Lee O'Reilly, dock manager at the Cavalier Yacht Club, is looking forward to more interest developing in water skiing. It's no as hard to learn as it appears, Lee says. . . . Dusty Hinnant is complaining about people carving up and moving life guard stands. . . . The Tides and Princes Charles Hotels are the first two large hotels to be built on the ocean front in eight years. . . . The musk men of the sands have a roped-off section of beach at 25th Street to display their athletic prowess this summer. Some 20 members have been given permission by the town council to rope off 90 feet of the beach.

Joe Fiveash, Jr., a member of the Princeton University golf team, led the qualifiers with scores of 75 and 76 in the 36-hole medal play event here. Other qualifiers and their alternates were Craig Slinguff, Tom Kernan, Frank Smith, Dickie Moore and David Pender.

The four golfers, all of whom won the right to participate in last year's State Junior event, will play at the Oakland Country Club in Lynchburg next week.

The scores: Joe Fiveash, Jr.: 75-76, 151. Craig Slinguff: 76-80, 156. Tom Kernan: 82-86, 168. Frank Smith, Jr.: 87-81, 168. Alternates: Dickie Moore and David Pender.

Chix Restaurant In Sixth Year Of Operation at Beach

Specializing in chickens—the fowl type—Chix Restaurant at Atlantic Avenue and 7th Street, and owned and operated by Louis Dickens of Virginia Beach, is beginning its sixth year of operation.

Thirty-five hundred chickens were sold last summer. This season Mr. Dickens has added delivery service for the surrounding area. The restaurant caters to the family trade, he said. It also has modern chicken friers that cook chicken Southern style in eight minutes.

The Cavalier Stables has announced the addition to its staff of Miss Barbara Tinsley, of Lynchburg, who will instruct in riding, jumping and trail riding in private lessons. A graduate of Duke University, Miss Tinsley is said to have extensive experience in instructing at summer camps.

Also at the Cavalier Stables is Bill Cox, who assisted Russell Walters at Mary Washington College as riding instructor. He will assist at the Cavalier Stables in trail riding.

Why is vacation time dangerous on the highway? The National Safety Council blames more travel—more chance for drivers to make mistakes. Avoid trying to cover too much distance in one day, which leads to speeding, fatigue and mechanical failure.

Dunes Club Has Gala Opening Wednesday Night

The Dunes Club quickly shifted into high gear Wednesday night as all doors cracked to a full house for opening night. An early evening shower failed to scare away the crowd as numerous town officials and beach business men joined the throng.

An imported four-act floor show got off to a fast and loud start as dancers Carlton and Dell practically bounced the club from its foundations. They were followed by singer Jessie Elliott and acrobats Clair and Hudson. The Radio Rogues attempted to settle the house back on its masonry work with a series of well developed and rapid fire impersonations of radio and motion picture stars ranging from the thrilling Peter Lorre to the lovable Barry Fitzgerald and Wallace Beery.

The two Radio Rogues gave the show the desired Broadway class and added polish to the otherwise loud floor show.

Music by Billy Cooper rippled smoothly through the club and before the night was over the band managed to play a variety of danceable tunes.

Despite the new staff and the large crowd, the confusion of an opening night was handled with ease.

Top Hat Club Opens Tonight With Phil Vinson

The Top Hat night club will open for the first time tonight with Phil Vinson and his dance band and accordion player, Jessie Griffiths, from New York.

Two adjoining buildings were taken over by the management early this season and have been completely remodeled. Two terraces have been built and the interior of the building has been decorated with chartreuse and cerise colors. Drapes will cover the ceiling and a 45-foot band stand and dance floor has been constructed on the ocean side.

Entertainment features will be changed every three weeks and all talent will be obtained from New York, according to a club official.

Jessie Griffiths performs on the accordion, organ and piano. Her musical experience covers television, radio, stage, clubs and hotels, both in the United States and Europe.

The new club will seat approximately 400 people and will have headmaster of the upper school at the Fork Union.

remodeled. Soft-colored drapes decorate both windows and ceiling and a large white oval-shaped dance floor and stage has been set up at one end of the club.

Miss Langford, who was given a start in radio by Rudy Vallee as a guest star on his network radio show, was one of the lucky few to gain immediate fame. She first appeared in a Broadway musical while singing over network programs and soon after moved to Hollywood.

Violinist Don McGrane, who specializes in arrangements of classical tunes, appeared for two years at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe and the Latin Quarter in New York. He has a large battery of violinists in his band and the orchestra's repertoire includes many danceable Viennese waltzes, rumbas and tunes from popular Broadway shows.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Keating

Practically every city-dwelling American is sure that bears are the most ferocious wild animals ever turned loose, and that a man who hunts them is a veritable giant among men.

The fact is, with certain important exceptions (most of them pertaining to the grizzly), bear hunting is pretty dull sport.

Davy Crockett started the bear myth and he has had many eager cooperators since. One trapper told about his terrifying experience of being socked square in the knee by a 1,500 pound grizzly. But after a quizzing by Writter Charles B. Roth it all came down to this: The grizzly was in a trap, the trapper got too close, and the bear let go a lucky round-house right, which you or I would have done in like conditions.

One of our most successful and realistic bear hunters was A. C. Rowell. He killed in all, around 300 bears, and never considered he was in the slightest danger. He had very little regard for grizzly courage. When asked if he were ever charged by one he replied: "Only by a wounded one or by a female trying to defend her young. But a female cottontail rabbit has attacked me under similar circumstances."

Stewart Edward White, who has hunted widely in both Africa and America, reports: "The African lion will keep charging to his last breath, no matter how many times you shoot him. But I have never seen a grizzly bear complete his charge."

There were never more than two kinds of bears in the United States—the black and the grizzly. The so-called brown bears, little cinnamon bears and big cinnamon bears are all variations or mutations of these two classes.

All bears are omnivorous, but the grizzly is more inclined to be carnivorous. Early day cattlemen, coming across the partially devoured carcass of a beef animal, jumped to the conclusion that a grizzly was the culprit. Actually the real killer was usually a mountain lion, and the grizzly came along later in the role of a scavenger.

"Anything that can be caught, chewed and swallowed is bear food. But the bear—grizzly and black—is ill-equipped to catch most other animals, unless they are disabled. Of necessity he is mainly a vegetarian.

The grizzly has been hunted so

Chrysler's 1949 convertible coupe makes its bow to the public. The New Yorker model, shown here, accommodates six passengers comfortably. It is on a longer 131 1/4-inch wheelbase and has a Prestomatic Fluid Drive Transmission. An electric-hydraulic mechanism lowers or raises the top in 15 seconds or less. The convertible coupe is available in 14 body colors, six types of upholstery and three color options for the top. The convertible also is obtainable in the Royal series.

peralstently that he is almost exterminated, and only a comparatively few black bear remain in this country. And anyone who has been to Yellowstone or a northern resort knows what big, good-natured, and we may as well admit it, stupid creatures they are.

Paul Green ReVamps "Common Glory" for Third Season Run

First he took apart "The Common Glory" and put it all together again, for the third season at Williamsburg, from opening narrative to closing curtain. Next he cast his eye over his older companion-drama, "The Lost Colony," and after twelve years of changes and improvements he introduced an entirely new scene in it for the 1949 season at Roanoke Island, N. C. He finished up a book—his eighth—and he outlined a great new drama—pageant to commemorate the 150th anniversary celebration in 1950 of the founding of the Capital in Washington.

The book he thinks he will call "Dog On the Sun"; the Washington drama is still on the laps of the gods, but if plans materialize it may be presented in a huge amphitheatre to be erected in Rock Creek Park. The changes in his two symphonic dramas—aged thirteen and three—well, there must always be changes with perfectionist Paul Green, because nothing is ever so good that it can't be better.

"You see—it's like this," Green will say. "There is a certain amount of experimentation" in everything, and you only learn by trying. First I write things the way I think they ought to be. Then comes the work with the producer, director, members of the cast and, of great importance, the budget. Circumstances of the moment often refuse that many things be changed.

"So it has been with 'The Common Glory,' Green explained. "The first year was in the nature of an experiment. The play as produced was not like it had originally been conceived because of funds with which to start—but we made a beginning.

"More firmly established the second year, a new pattern was cut for the drama, the scenery and costumes. Now with the third season we are beginning to realize what we have long hoped for.

"This season the drama opens on the lawn of Jefferson's Monticello on a balmy afternoon in autumn. This change from the Court scene, used in former years, was made so that the thrilling scene at St. John's Church and Patrick Henry's immortal words of "Liberty and Death" might be included in the drama and in proper sequence.

"Another of the new scenes is laid in the Ballroom of the Palace of the Royal Governors in Williamsburg. This year, too, we have done much to the music for the drama and whenever Harshard music is called for we have it as well as eighteenth century chamber music."

For the next few weeks Paul Green may be located on front-row center at the Matenka Lake Amphitheatre, watching the rehearsals for the revised and restaged "Glory" which opens its new season July 1 and will play nightly except Mondays until Labor Day.

Virginia is the site of one of the world's largest shipbuilding companies, located in Newport News. The nation's largest passenger liner is under construction there. This single company gives work to more than 12,000 employees.
